Crippled Apollo 13 To Limp Homeward

Ground Crew Talks Apollo Home

By BILL STOCKTON
AP Science Writer

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Glynn Lunney ran fingers through close-cropped hair, adjusted the headset clamped to his head and flashed a smile down the console.

"All right, everybody," he said. "We've got a number of things to do."

But the lives of three American astronauts 202,000 miles from home and nearing the moon hung in the balance. Apollo 13 was in trouble, moon landing aborted, and the astronauts' lives threatened.

And it was up to Lunney and his Black team of flight controllers at Mission Control to make order of the chaos.

Behind Lunney, in executive row, sat some of the top brass of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, drawn there in the wee hours of the night by word that the Apollo flight was in trouble.

The problems, crowding in, demanded attention. But they had to be taken one at a time, the most pressing first.

"We'll set up the roll and let them watch it like they did on Apollo 8," he said about a procedure to keep the sun from overheating the spacecraft.

"I don't see the point in the new procedure." Voice calm, he might have been discussing buying groceries with his wife.

"We keep stalling around. I don't see the point. Somebody tell me what the point is and I'll buy it."

The astronauts, James Lovell, Fred Haise and John Swigert, began going through a checklist on activating the lunar module electrical system.

Viet Reds Wreck Border Position; 96 Are Slain

SAIGON (AP) — Striking from inside Cambodia with big rockets and assault troops, North Vietnamese wrecked the South Vietnamese border crossing post on Highway One, but the defenders killed 96 of the attackers, sources said.

Many of the North Vietnamese were killed by South Vietnamese bombers and artillery fire that crossed the border 42 miles northwest of Saigon.

Seven of the 150 militiamen manning the border post were reported killed and more than a dozen wounded, but sturdy defense bunkers kept the South Vietnamese casualty toll down. One civilian, a member of a militiaman's family, also was killed.

One source said North Vietnamese positions in Cambodia bombarded the complex of yellow one-story buildings with mortar shells and 240mm rockets weighing about 200 pounds each. Then sappers broke through the perimeter firing rocket grenades.

"The damage was extensive," the source said. "It was pretty bad."

South Vietnamese ground troops and bombers have been making regular forays across the border in collaboration with Cambodian forces in efforts to crush North Vietnamese and Viet Cong units that have their base camps in the area that juts into South Vietnam. It is known to the military as the Parrot's Beak.

Farther south, AP Correspondent John Vinocur reported from Takeo, Cambodia, that Viet Cong and North Vietnamese troops who have been operating in the Seven Mountains region of the western Mekong Delta attacked two Cambodian posts about six miles from the border and captured about 50 soldiers and policemen.

Takeo Province's assistant military chief said the Viet Cong were looking for rice. He estimated that there are 20,000 Viet Cong and North Vietnamese in his province.

There was no word of fresh fighting 25 miles farther west along Highway One, where more than 3,000 Viet Cong troops advancing into Cambodia are reported on three sides of Svay Rieng, a provincial capital with a population of nearly 20,000.

Merriman Smith Dead

WASHINGTON (AP) — Merriman Smith, White House correspondent for United Press International for 28 years, is dead at age 57, apparently of a self-inflicted gunshot wound.

He suffered a severe illness in December 1968, but recovered. Ten days ago he entered a District of Columbia hospital. He told his office Monday he had a severe cold and would not be in to work.

When Smith's wife checked on him after he did not answer her call in their Alexandria, Va., home, she found him in a bathroom, with a bullet wound through his head and a .357 magnum revolver nearby.

In a statement, President Nixon praised Smith, saying "Smitty was a reporter I knew and respected for many years and so tonight, I feel a real sense of personal loss. Mrs. Nixon joins me in expressing our deepest sympathy to his family."

Blind Man Is Robbed; Dog Stolen

NEW YORK (AP) — The men came up as Steven Tripp stood waiting on Lexington Avenue for the 40th Street crosstown bus. They knocked him to the ground, emptied his pockets—and fled with his guide dog.

No one helped, Tripp told police.

Two women came up and told him there were two men who robbed him and took his dog, he said. Then they walked away.

Tripp, who made his way home with an injured leg, later gave police the only other information he had. He described his dog, Bruno, a 4-year-old German shepherd. Police put out an alarm for the dog.

The 47-year-old blind man told police that he had been visiting friends and was turning home when he was attacked shortly after midnight.

FBI Agents Arrest Man For Robbery

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—James Edward McClain, wanted in connection with the Sept. 25, 1968, attempted robbery of the Bud Employes Federal Credit Union in Detroit, was taken into custody by FBI agents Monday.

McClain was arrested earlier in the day by city police on a drunk and disorderly charge and paid a fine in municipal court. A policeman became suspicious of him and a fingerprint check disclosed he was wanted by the FBI.

State May Sue Polluters Of Lake Erie

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Mercury contamination of some Lake Erie fish has prompted Ohio's attorney general to threaten to sue two major chemical firms he says are responsible for most of the pollution which has brought an indefinite ban on commercial fishing in Ohio's portion of the lake.

Gov. James A. Rhodes said Monday that he could lift the ban in a week, but warned that it could be kept in effect for two to three years if necessary. Rhodes issued the 60-day ban Sunday.

Rhodes claimed Michigan and Canadian industries were responsible for the mercury contamination. Only one Ohio company, the Detrex Chemical Co. of Ashtabula, had been ordered to stop alleged discharge of mercury - tainted effluent into the lake, Dr. Emmett W. Arnold, Ohio dealth director, said Monday.

Atty. Gen. Paul W. Brown said he has contacted attorneys in adjoining states and expects them to join in the suits he said he will file against Dow Chemical Co. of Sarnia, Ont., Canada, and Wyandotte Chemical Co. of Detroit, Mich.

He said tests of the bottom of Lake St. Clair, which collects Dow wastes, show 1,800 parts per million of mercuy. "This is an extremely large and serious concentration of mercury," said Brown, adding that tests of the Detroit River bottom at the Wyandotte plant site are less concentrated, but still harmful.

The governor issued the ban pending federal aid in an investigation into the extent and sources of mercury contamination in Lake Erie.

About half of 28 Lake Erie fish tested by the state in 1970 contained more than .5 parts per million of mercury, the maximum allowed by the U.S. Food and Drug Administration said State Agriculture Director John M. Stackhouse.

Spring Storm Hits Far West; Snow Expected

Wind Warnings Issued For Some Southwest Areas

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Near-blizzard conditions chilled parts of Montana. Heavy snow warnings were expected in the state's southern counties as well as adjacent areas of Wyoming.

Strong-wind warnings were issued for much of Arizona and New Mexico. Widespread blowing sand or dust clouded sections of the Southwest. Gusts 35 to 45 miles an hour were common from the Pacific to the Rockies.

The wind tore a one-time cruise ship, La Janelle, from its moorings near Oxnard, Calif., and drove it aground. The ship was not in service and no one was injured.

Salty rainwater fell in south-central Idaho and caused several power outages late Monday. The weather said the salt may have been swept up earlier by windstorms over salt deserts to the south.

Blowing dust reduced visibility and forced closure for a time of Interstate 80 west of Salt Lake City.

Rainfall in the storm generally was light, but the prospects of cold rain and possibly heavy snow brought stockmen's warnings in portions of Montana, Wyoming, Utah, Idaho and Nevada.

Five inches of snow fell over night at Minot, N.D., to deepen the snow cover there to 11 inches.

The storm which buried sections of South Dakota under 1½ to 2 feet of snow Monday swirled eastward over the Ohio Valley and weakened. Showers or thundershowers ranged from the Carolinas into the southern Great Lakes.

A tornado-like storm whipped through portions of Knox and Anderson counties, in upper east Tennessee, late Monday, overturned two mobile homes and damaged other buildings. No one was injured seriously.

Ohio Soldier Dies From Meningitis

FT. BRAGG, N. C. (AP)—Pfc. John M. Kennedy of Columbus, Ohio, an Army basic trainee from Columbus, Ohio, died Monday of meningitis.

Kennedy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leo J. Kennedy, entered the service April 2. The Army said he was hospitalized Sunday.

APOLLO PICKUP — The Apollo 13 will return to Earth at least four days early because of trouble that developed as it sped toward the Moon. Present plans call for a splashdown at 1 p.m. Friday in the Pacific Ocean north of New Zealand. A "superfast" return plan may be substituted which would bring the astronauts back 1 p.m. Thursday. The aircraft carrier Iwo Jima is the pickup ship for the return.

Space Trio Keep Their Cool Despite Sudden Craft Crisis

By HARRY F. ROSENTHAL
Associated Press Writer

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP)—Never once, in the greatest crisis of their lives, in a danger that had materialized only in fiction, did the Apollo 13 astronauts lose their cool.

"Hey, we've got a problem here!"

Even that first cry of alarm, across 202,000 miles of space, was restrained, though urgent.

They'd finished a television show—such standard fare for a jaded public that none of the television networks made time for it. Mission control saw it and congratulated them on it. Now the ground was giving instructions for positioning the spacecraft to look for the comet Bennett.

"This is Houston, say again please."

"Houston, we've had a problem. We've had a main B bus interval."

A power failure! An imbalance in the intricate system that gives oxygen and direction and the fragile voice lifeline to the ground.

By the very laws of the universe they challenged and used, their spacecraft continued on to the moon as indeed it would

Apollo Families Worried, Calm

No Statements Being Issued

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — "I'm not saying another word until Jim gets back home," Marilyn Lovell said today as her astronaut-husband aboard Apollo 13 fought a historic space battle to return to earth.

The wife of Navy Capt. James A. Lovell Jr. stayed close to her space center monitor and a big color television set in her home as the space crisis unfolded 200,000 miles away.

At her side, in the small study used by Lovell in prepping for the mission, was Charles Conrad Jr., Apollo 12 moon explorer.

"Sure they'll make it," Conrad said with enthusiasm, but added: "Of course it's always a shame to give up a mission."

"The atmosphere is tense, everyone listening to the squawk box and watching television," said space agency official Bob McMurrey in describing the activity in the homes of Lovell and astronaut Fred W. Haise Jr.

Before the trouble developed in space, Mrs. Lovell and Mary Haise were cheerful as they watched their husbands on Monday night's television show from space. They had gone to Mission Control to see the telecast.

In Denver, Swigert's parents, Dr. and Mrs. J. Leonard Swigert, said they were "very worried, just stunned" upon hearing of the Apollo trouble.

Dr. Swigert, a 67-year-old Denver ophthalmologist, was reported not feeling well. Mrs. Swigert, 63, said her husband's arthritis in his legs was bothering him.

Chronology Of Key Events In Apollo Emergency Listed

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP)— Here is a chronology of key events that led to the decision to abort the Apollo 13 moon landing and bring the three astronauts home (all times EST and approximate):

10:15 p.m. Monday—"Houston, we've had a problem," Commander James A. Lovell Jr. reports. A warning light indicated an electrical power problem.

10:20 p.m.—Lovell reports low oxygen readings on two of the three power-producing fuel cells.

10:25 p.m.—Lovell says "We are venting something out into space." He reports it apparently is gas and that it caused the spaceship to pitch and roll.

10:45 p.m.—Spacecraft reports fuel cell 3 is out, and oxygen supply in cabin is dropping One of two main electrical circuits "is dead," astronaut John L. Swigert Jr. reports.

10:55 p.m.—Swigert says these systems are flashing warning lights: liquid gas pressurization; fuel cell 1, fuel cell 3, main electrical bus B and suit compressor.

11:20 p.m.—Astronaut Fred W. Haise Jr. reports venting is causing "a positive pitch rate, and I can't stop it." Thruster firing halts it.

11:40 p.m.—Haise reports cabin oxygen pressure falling. Mission Control orders activation of an emergency battery, and tells astronauts it is considering the LM "lifeboat"—using the lunar module as a haven.

11:59 p.m.—Mission Control says all three fuel cells are off and that only 15 minutes' electrical power remains in the command ship. Tells astronauts to transfer through tunnel to LM and activate its systems. With oxygen flowing from the LM, Swigert remains in command ship to turn off several systems.

12:13 a.m. Tuesday—Moon landing cancelled and maneuvers plotted for swinging Apollo around the moon and bringing it back to earth Friday.

Bullet Nearly Hits Trucker

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — An Alabama trucker narrowly escaped death early today when a high-powered rifle bullet was fired through the cab of his truck on the Ohio Turnpike in Cuyahoga County, the state patrol said.

Patrolmen said the bullet, apparently fired from a van-type vehicle ahead of the truck, passed through the cab and exhaust pipe of the truck and came within six inches of the head of Carter Herman Smith, 36, of Tanner, Ala.

The incident came as an estimated 6,000 Cleveland area Teamster Union members carried a wildcat strike for more pay into its 14th day.

Splashdown Scheduled 1 P.M. Friday

By HOWARD BENEDICT
AP Aerospace Writer

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Apollo 13's imperiled astronauts battled to bring their crippled spaceship back to earth today as Mission Control Center considered a risky "superfast" return that would propel them home a day early and perhaps save their lives.

"Yes, barely," flight controller Glynn Lunney said when asked whether the three spacemen would make it back from their aborted moon landing mission, suddenly cut short Monday night when a violent rupture of unknown origin ripped through pressurized fuel tanks.

Officials are considering the quick return to bring Apollo 13 back to earth Thursday because they are concerned about oxygen and water supplies aboard the lunar module from which the astronauts are drawing life support.

James A. Lovell Jr., Fred W. Haise Jr. and John L. Swigert Jr. conserved these vital consumables as they raced farther from earth, toward a loop around the moon tonight before starting the quarter-million-mile homeward journey.

Looping the moon is the safest way home, officials said, because Apollo 13 was close to its target when the accident happened and already was on a course that would take it around the moon's backside.

To stop short of the moon would have required considerable power and fuel expenditure, something the astronauts don't have with their big command ship engine idled by electrical failure.

The only powerplant available is the lunar module descent engine, the one intended to lower Lovell and Haise to the moon's surface. The spacemen triggered the engine 30 seconds early today to adjust their course slightly to a path that would take them around the moon and bring them back to earth late Friday if they made no other maneuver.

If that engine had failed to ignite, Apollo 13 would have swung back toward earth but would have missed by some 20,000 miles and would have been lost forever in space.

To speed the homeward trip by 10 hours, Lovell, Haise and

Recovery Ship Ready For Rescue

ABOARD USS IWO JIMA (AP) — "We are ready," said the commander of the Apollo 13 recovery ship Iwo Jima cruising the Pacific when he learned of the crisis in space Monday night.

The news meant this helicopter carrier was assigned to pluck astronauts James A. Lovell Jr., Fred W. Haise Jr., and John L. Swigert Jr., Friday instead of April 21 as had been planned.

For some hours early Tuesday, controllers hadn't decided whether the disabled Odyssey would splash down in the Pacific or the Atlantic in the unfolding emergency. At 5:40 a.m. EST Tuesday, controllers announced the splashdown would be at 1 p.m. EST in the Pacific.

Until the news of the abort reached the Iwo Jima, it had been steaming toward the programmed splashdown point near Christmas Island. It had until April 21 to get there, after leaving Pearl Harbor April 4.

But Monday night, Capt. Leland E. Kirkemo said he would stay in a 200-mile radius of Pago Pago until exact coordinates are determined.

"We are ready. We had a good simulation exercise today," Kirkemo said.

The Iwo Jima, with its eight helicopters is the only Naval vessel near the Pacific recovery area. Kirkemo said he had not received word of any plans to bolster the recovery force.

After the Iwo Jima picks up the spacemen Friday, they will be taken by helicopter to Pago Pago in the Samoa Islands.

Ford Says Impeachment Of Douglas 'Needed'

WASHINGTON (AP) — House Republican Leader Gerald R. Ford says an article published in a controversial magazine by Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas removes all doubt about the need for impeaching him.

Ford, who has conducted an investigation of the 71-year-old Douglas for about seven months, said he plans to outline the results of his probe in a House speech Wednesday.

He said publication of the article, a condensation of Douglas' book "Points of Rebellion," in Evergreen magazine "was the straw that broke the camel's back."

"If there ever was any doubt about the need for impeachment proceedings against Justice Douglas they were eliminated by publication of the April issue of Evergreen," the GOP Leader said.

After Ford makes his speech, Reps. Louis C. Wyman, R-N.H., Joe Waggonner Jr., D-La., and others plan to introduce a resolution calling for creation of a special committee to investigate possible impeachment of Douglas.

Ford said to avoid any partisan tinge he would not join in sponsoring the resolution, but added he would personally vote to impeach Douglas.

Rep. Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., chairman of the House Judiciary Committee, said the timing of the resolution—coming on the heels of the Senate rejection of the Supreme Court nomination of G. Harrold Carswell—smacks of political retaliation.

But Ford and others denied that politics had anything to do with it.

Ford, Wyman and Waggonner declined to delve into specific cases at a news conference, but they said the resolution will have the backing from both parties.

"This is judicial misbehavior," Wyman said. Pointing to the article, he said, "this is conduct which establishes a sitting justice as a partisan."

Ford displayed a copy of the magazine containing photos of nudes, including a naked couple. He called it shocking.

The resolution calls for the special panel to submit its report in 90 days.

If created as proposed, the committee would conduct hearings and be armed with subpoena power. The resolution, itself, would be referred to the House

Agnew Condemns Open Admissions

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP) — Vice President Spiro T. Agnew says it is a serious educational mistake to let unqualified students attend the nation's universities in order to meet social goals.

Condemning both the open admission and quota systems, Agnew asserted Monday night:

State May Sue Polluters Of Lake Erie

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Mercury contamination of some Lake Erie fish has prompted Ohio's attorney general to threaten to sue two major chemical firms he says are responsible for most of the pollution which has brought an indefinite ban on commercial fishing in Ohio's portion of the lake.

Gov. James A. Rhodes said Monday that he could lift the ban in a week, but warned that it could be kept in effect for two to three years if necessary. Rhodes issued the 60-day ban Sunday.

Rhodes claimed Michigan and Canadian industries were responsible for the mercury contamination. Only one Ohio company, the Detrex Chemical Co. of Ashtabula, had been ordered to stop alleged discharge of mercury - tainted effluent into the lake, Dr. Emmett W. Arnold, Ohio dealth director, said Monday.

Atty. Gen. Paul W. Brown said he has contacted attorneys in adjoining states and expects them to join in the suits he said he will file against Dow Chemical Co. of Sarnia, Ont., Canada, and Wyandotte Chemical Co. of Detroit, Mich.

He said tests of the bottom of Lake St. Clair, which collects Dow wastes, show 1,800 parts per million of mercuy. "This is an extremely large and serious concentration of mercury," said Brown, adding that tests of the Detroit River bottom at the Wyandotte plant site are less concentrated, but still harmful.

The governor issued the ban pending federal aid in an investigation into the extent and sources of mercury contamination in Lake Erie.

About half of 28 Lake Erie fish tested by the state in 1970 contained more than .5 parts per million of mercury, the maximum allowed by the U.S. Food and Drug Administration said State Agriculture Director John M. Stackhouse.

Spring Storm Hits Far West; Snow Expected

Wind Warnings Issued For Some Southwest Areas

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Near-blizzard conditions chilled parts of Montana. Heavy snow warnings were expected in the state's southern counties as well as adjacent areas of Wyoming.

Strong-wind warnings were issued for much of Arizona and New Mexico. Widespread blowing sand or dust clouded sections of the Southwest. Gusts 35 to 45 miles an hour were common from the Pacific to the Rockies.

The wind tore a one-time cruise ship, La Janelle, from its moorings near Oxnard, Calif., and drove it aground. The ship was not in service and no one was injured.

Salty rainwater fell in south-central Idaho and caused several power outages late Monday. The weather said the salt may have been swept up earlier by windstorms over salt deserts to the south.

Blowing dust reduced visibility and forced closure for a time of Interstate 80 west of Salt Lake City.

Rainfall in the storm generally was light, but the prospects of cold rain and possibly heavy snow brought stockmen's warnings in portions of Montana, Wyoming, Utah, Idaho and Nevada.

Five inches of snow fell over night at Minot, N.D., to deepen the snow cover there to 11 inches.

The storm which buried sections of South Dakota under 1½ to 2 feet of snow Monday swirled eastward over the Ohio Valley and weakened. Showers or thundershowers ranged from the Carolinas into the southern Great Lakes.

A tornado-like storm whipped through portions of Knox and Anderson counties, in upper east Tennessee, late Monday, overturned two mobile homes and damaged other buildings. No one was injured seriously.

Ohio Soldier Dies From Meningitis

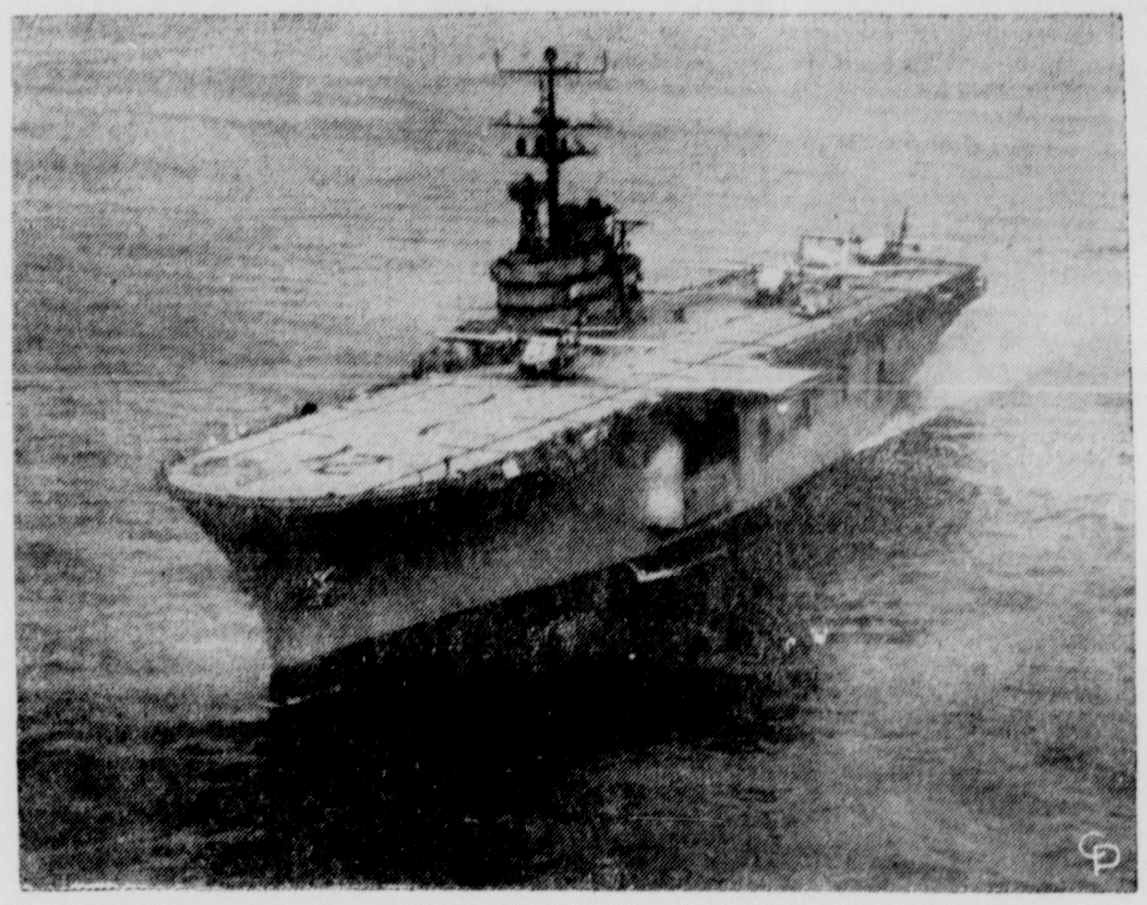
Kennedy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leo J. Kennedy, entered the service April 2. The Army said he was hospitalized Sunday.



APOLLO PICKUP — The Apollo 13 will return to Earth at least four days early because of trouble that developed as it sped toward the Moon. Present plans call for a splashdown at 1 p.m. Friday in the Pacific Ocean north of New Zealand. A "superfast" return plan may be substituted which would bring the astronauts back 1 p.m. Thursday. The aircraft carrier Iwo Jima is the pickup ship for the return.

Space Trio Keep Their Cool Despite Sudden Craft Crisis

By HARRY F. ROSENTHAL

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP)—Never once, in the greatest crisis of their lives, in a danger that had materialized only in fiction, did the Apollo 13 astronauts lose their cool.

"Hey, we've got a problem here!"

Even that first cry of alarm, across 202,000 miles of space, was restrained, though urgent.

They'd finished a television show—such standard fare for a jaded public that none of the television networks made time for it. Mission control saw it and congratulated them on it. Now the ground was giving instructions for positioning the spacecraft to look for the comet Bennett.

"This is Houston, say again please."

"Houston, we've had a problem. We've had a main B bus interval."

A power failure! An imbalance in the intricate system that gives oxygen and direction and the fragile voice lifeline to the ground.

Apollo Families Worried, Calm

No Statements Being Issued

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — "I'm not saying another word until Jim gets back home," Marilyn Lovell said today as her astronaut-husband aboard Apollo 13 fought a historic space battle to return to earth.

At her side, in the small study used by Lovell in prepping for the mission, was Charles Conrad Jr., Apollo 12 moon explorer.

"Sure they'll make it," Conrad said with enthusiasm, but added: "Of course it's always a shame to give up a mission."

"The atmosphere is tense, everyone listening to the squawk box and watching television," said space agency official Bob McMurrey in describing the activity in the homes of Lovell and astronaut Fred W. Haise Jr.

Before the trouble developed in space, Mrs. Lovell and Mary Haise were cheerful as they watched their husbands on Monday night's television show from space. They had gone to Mission Control to see the telecast.

In Denver, Swigert's parents, Dr. and Mrs. J. Leonard Swigert, said they were "very worried, just stunned" upon hearing of the Apollo trouble.

Dr. Swigert, a 67-year-old Denver ophthalmologist, was reported not feeling well. Mrs. Swigert, 63, said her husband's arthritis in his legs was bothering him.

Chronology Of Key Events In Apollo Emergency Listed

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP)— Here is a chronology of key events that led to the decision to abort the Apollo 13 moon landing and bring the three astronauts home (all times EST and approximate):

10:15 p.m. Monday—"Houston, we've had a problem," Commander James A. Lovell Jr. reports. A warning light indicated an electrical power problem.

10:20 p.m.—Lovell reports low oxygen readings on two of the three power-producing fuel cells.

10:25 p.m.—Lovell says "We are venting something out into space." He reports it apparently is gas and that it caused the spaceship to pitch and roll.

10:45 p.m.—Spacecraft reports fuel cell 3 is out, and oxygen supply in cabin is dropping One of two main electrical circuits "is dead," astronaut John L. Swigert Jr. reports.

10:55 p.m.—Swigert says these systems are flashing warning lights: liquid gas pressurization; fuel cell 1, fuel cell 3, main electrical bus B and suit compressor.

11:20 p.m.—Astronaut Fred W. Haise Jr. reports venting is causing "a positive pitch rate, and I can't stop it." Thruster firing halts it.

11:40 p.m.—Haise reports cabin oxygen pressure falling. Mission Control orders activation of an emergency battery, and tells astronauts it is considering the LM "lifeboat"—using the lunar module as a haven.

11:59 p.m.—Mission Control says all three fuel cells are off and that only 15 minutes' electrical power remains in the command ship. Tells astronauts to transfer through tunnel to LM and activate its systems. With oxygen flowing from the LM, Swigert remains in command ship to turn off several systems.

12:13 a.m. Tuesday—Moon landing cancelled and maneuvers plotted for swinging Apollo around the moon and bringing it back to earth Friday.

Bullet Nearly Hits Trucker

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — An Alabama trucker narrowly escaped death early today when a high-powered rifle bullet was fired through the cab of his truck on the Ohio Turnpike in Cuyahoga County, the state patrol said.

Patrolmen said the bullet, apparently fired from a van-type vehicle ahead of the truck, passed through the cab and exhaust pipe of the truck and came within six inches of the head of Carter Herman Smith, 36, of Tanner, Ala.

The incident came as an estimated 6,000 Cleveland area Teamster Union members carried a wildcat strike for more pay into its 14th day.

Agnew Condemns Open Admissions

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP) — Vice President Spiro T. Agnew says it is a serious educational mistake to let unqualified students attend the nation's universities in order to meet social goals.

Condemning both the open admission and quota systems, Agnew asserted Monday night:

Splashdown Scheduled 1 P.M. Friday

By HOWARD BENEDICT

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Apollo 13's imperiled astronauts battled to bring their crippled spaceship back to earth today as Mission Control Center considered a risky "superfast" return that would propel them home a day early and perhaps save their lives.

"Yes, barely," flight controller Glynn Lunney said when asked whether the three spacemen would make it back from their aborted moon landing mission, suddenly cut short Monday night when a violent rupture of unknown origin ripped through pressurized fuel tanks.

Officials are considering the quick return to bring Apollo 13 back to earth Thursday because they are concerned about oxygen and water supplies aboard the lunar module from which the astronauts are drawing life support.

James A. Lovell Jr., Fred W. Haise Jr. and John L. Swigert Jr. conserved these vital consumables as they raced farther from earth, toward a loop around the moon tonight before starting the quarter-million-mile homeward journey.

Looping the moon is the safest way home, officials said, because Apollo 13 was close to its target when the accident happened and already was on a course that would take it around the moon's backside.

To stop short of the moon would have required considerable power and fuel expenditure, something the astronauts don't have with their big command ship engine idled by electrical failure.

The only powerplant available is the lunar module descent engine, the one intended to lower Lovell and Haise to the moon's surface. The spacemen triggered the engine 30 seconds early today to adjust their course slightly to a path that would take them around the moon and bring them back to earth late Friday if they made no other maneuver.

If that engine had failed to ignite, Apollo 13 would have swung back toward earth but would have missed by some 20,000 miles and would have been lost forever in space.

To speed the homeward trip by 10 hours, Lovell, Haise and

Recovery Ship Ready For Rescue

ABOARD USS IWO JIMA (AP) — "We are ready," said the commander of the Apollo 13 recovery ship Iwo Jima cruising the Pacific when he learned of the crisis in space Monday night.

The news meant this helicopter carrier was assigned to pluck astronauts James A. Lovell Jr., Fred W. Haise Jr., and John L. Swigert Jr., Friday instead of April 21 as had been planned.

For some hours early Tuesday, controllers hadn't decided whether the disabled Odyssey would splash down in the Pacific or the Atlantic in the unfolding emergency. At 5:40 a.m. EST Tuesday, controllers announced the splashdown would be at 1 p.m. EST in the Pacific.

Until the news of the abort reached the Iwo Jima, it had been steaming toward the programmed splashdown point near Christmas Island. It had until April 21 to get there, after leaving Pearl Harbor April 4.

But Monday night, Capt. Leland E. Kirkemo said he would stay in a 200-mile radius of Pago Pago until exact coordinates are determined.

"We are ready. We had a good simulation exercise today," Kirkemo said.

The Iwo Jima, with its eight helicopters is the only Naval vessel near the Pacific recovery area. Kirkemo said he had not received word of any plans to bolster the recovery force.

After the Iwo Jima picks up the spacemen Friday, they will be taken by helicopter to Pago Pago in the Samoa Islands.

Ford Says Impeachment Of Douglas 'Needed'

WASHINGTON (AP) — House Republican Leader Gerald R. Ford says an article published in a controversial magazine by Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas removes all doubt about the need for impeaching him.

Ford, who has conducted an investigation of the 71-year-old Douglas for about seven months, said he plans to outline the results of his probe in a House speech Wednesday.

He said publication of the article, a condensation of Douglas' book "Points of Rebellion," in Evergreen magazine "was the straw that broke the camel's back."

"If there ever was any doubt about the need for impeachment proceedings against Justice Douglas they were eliminated by publication of the April issue of Evergreen," the GOP Leader said.

After Ford makes his speech, Reps. Louis C. Wyman, R-N.H., Joe Waggonner Jr., D-La., and others plan to introduce a resolution calling for creation of a special committee to investigate possible impeachment of Douglas.

Ford said to avoid any partisan tinge he would not join in sponsoring the resolution, but added he would personally vote to impeach Douglas.

Rep. Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., chairman of the House Judiciary Committee, said the timing of the resolution—coming on the heels of the Senate rejection of the Supreme Court nomination of G. Harrold Carswell—smacks of political retaliation.

But Ford and others denied that politics had anything to do with it.

Ford, Wyman and Waggonner declined to delve into specific cases at a news conference, but they said the resolution will have the backing from both parties.

"This is judicial misbehavior," Wyman said. Pointing to the article, he said, "this is conduct which establishes a sitting justice as a partisan."

Ford displayed a copy of the magazine containing photos of nudes, including a naked couple. He called it shocking.

The resolution calls for the special panel to submit its report in 90 days.

If created as proposed, the committee would conduct hearings and be armed with subpoena power. The resolution, itself, would be referred to the House

The award was announced at a banquet held Saturday in the American Legion Hall.

John Barry of Cincinnati, a member of the local council, served as toastmaster for the affair, and gave a review of the highlights of the activities for the year.

Past Grand Knights present for the evening included William Thornton, Thomas Shea and Dallas Elliott, Jr. Twenty-five year pins were presented to Eddie Joyce, who has been a member for 30 years, Frank Plescia, Roscoe Gates and Ralph Altmeyer.

Mixed couples handicap bowling tourney, held at Circle D Lanes, champions were Mr. and Mrs. Larry Dietrick, who also took top honors for high team three game scratch, high team one game scratch and high team one game handicap. Second place trophy was won by Mr. and Mrs. Fiske O'Hara, with Mr. and Mrs. Rudloph Chelikowsky, third and Mr. and Mrs. Steve Brudzinski and Mr. and Mrs. Dallas Elliott tied for fourth place.

High individual single game ladies' handicap trophy was won by Mrs. John Dietrich, and high individual three game handicap honors went to Mrs. Larry Dietrich. Individual honors for the men went to Mike Stonerock, high individual single game handicap, and to Rudy Chelikowsky, high individual three games handicap.

Special recognition was given to Mrs. Elizabeth Stonerock, who has five sons who are members of Hannan Council, including Grand Knight McConnell, James McConnell, and Mike, Steve, and Jeff Stonerock. The Stonerock brothers, known professionally as "The Stoney's" provided music for dancing following the program. Assisting Plescia with arrangements for the evening were Richard Sill, James Butler and Grand Knight McConnell.

Topless Workers Novice Milkmaids

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) — Two novice milkmaids—measuring 40-22-36 and 46-24-36—stole the show from two Jersey cows—each 104-120-133—in the annual milking contest between the University of California's Berkeley and Davis campuses.

More than 250 students—several saying they had never seen a cow being milked—witnessed the contest Monday on the steps of Sproul Hall on the Berkeley campus.

Milkmaids Sunny and Tara, both topless dancers in San Francisco's North Beach but clad for the contest, admitted they had never seen a cow close up.

Tara won the contest. She got 10½ ounces of milk to Sunny's half ounce and Berkeley supporters cheered the victory for their campus.

Nickell, Conley Appear In Court

Two more persons indicted by the April 6 term of the Pickaway County Grand jury were arraigned in Common Pleas Court today.

Charles Nickell, indicted for grand larceny and Robert Conley, held for the attempted kidnapping of a Columbus legal secretary, both entered pleas of innocent to the charges and had their bonds continued. Hearings will be held at a later date.

Dr. Schiewetz Transferred

DR. DON B. SCHIEWETZ

Announcement was made today of the transfer of Dr. Don B. Schiewetz to the DuPont 'Mylar' plant in Florence, S. C as Technical Superintendent of the installation.

He joined the DuPont firm in 1954 as a research engineer at the Yerkes Researh and Development Laboratory in Buffalo, N. Y. He later was positioned in the Wilmington Research Lab as technical supervisor in the development section.

His transfer to Circleville came in December, 1962 as manufacturing area supervisor of the local Kapton installation.

Dr. Schiewetz, his wife, Patricia and son, Mark, live at 675 Ridgewood Drive. They are members of Trinity Lutheran Church.

As a resident of Circleville, he has been active in civic and community affairs as a member of Kiwanis Club, past president of Pickaway County Cancer Society and with Indian Guides of the YMCA.

He also served on educational and Congressional action committees of the Chamber of Commerce.

Dr. Schiewetz is a member of AICHE professional society having earned a BS degree in chemical engineering at Northwestern University and a Masters and Doctorate degree in chemical engineering at the University of Cincinnati.

Plan Lineup In Yablonski Slaying Case

CANTON, Ohio (AP) — Some 30 federal witnesses were bused from Cleveland to Canton today to begin viewing FBI lineups including three persons indicted in the slaying of United Mine Workers official Joseph A. Yablonski.

The Stark County sheriff's department said the witnesses would individually view lineups including Paul E. Gilly, 37, his wife Annette, 29, and Claude E. Vealey, 26, three of the five persons indicted earlier on federal charges of conspiring to kill Yablonski.

The Gillys have been held since shortly after their indictment in the Stark County jail. Vealey has been kept in the Summit County jail in Akron.

Sheriff George Papadopulos said the lineup viewings would take three to four hours, running into the afternoon.

Federal authorities in Cleveland did not identify any of the witnesses, but they were believed to have been persons who might have seen participants in the alleged Yablonski murder plot in Kentucky, Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Tennessee and southern Ohio. None were believed to be members or officials of the U.M.W.

Jailbreak Bid Foiled

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP)— Four juveniles being held in the Mahoning County Jail failed early this morning to break out of jail after they hit a jailer over the head with a broomstick, deputies said.

Two women dispatchers responsible for the automatic control of the jail's elevator from the fourth floor down foiled the attempt by freezing the elevator between the third and fourth floors.

The four had operated the elevator manually from the sixth to the fourth floors and ordered the dispatchers to send them down to the first floor.

Sheriff's Capt. Orlando Dilulo said juvenile court charges of assaulting a police officer and attempting a jail break were being considered against the youths, all 17 years old and from the Youngstown area.

Soviet Atom Sub Said Lost

Believe 88 Aboard May Have Been Lost

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Soviet nuclear attack submarine, perhaps with as many as 88 crewmen aboard, apparently has been lost in Atlantic waters 400 miles northwest of the Spanish coast.

The word came Monday from the Defense Department, which reported that American planes observed at least some of the drama of the high seas incident before the submarine disappeared last weekend.

The 3,500-ton vessel, one of a class of hunter-killer submarines capable of tailing American ships, was seen in distress Friday and Saturday, then vanished Sunday—with two oil slicks remaining.

No one actually saw her go down but Navy antisubmarine patrol planes had watched over the weekend as two Soviet surface ships attempted unsuccessfully to tie a towline to the sub in rough seas.

At one point Soviet crewmen stood on the deck of the surfaced submarine. The U.S. Navy P3 Orion planes, flying from an airbase in the Azores, saw none of them leave.

"Late yesterday the Soviet surface ships were still in the area where the submarine was first sighted and were apparently conducting a search," the Pentagon said Monday. "It is possible that the Soviet nuclear submarine may have sunk."

The apparent loss came 23 months after an American nuclear submarine, the USS Scorpion, mysteriously vanished with a crew of 99 in the Atlantic while returning from a Mediterranean exercise.

There were no obvious similarities in the two incidents, however. The Scorpion was never sighted nor heard from and apparently disintegrated in the ocean depths.

Scorpion debris was later found 400 miles southwest of the Azores. The Soviet submarine was spotted 400 miles northwest of Cape Finisterre, Spain—roughly 1,000 miles from the Scorpion's grave.

The question arose as to why the Pentagon elected to announce the Soviet misfortune, which was not immediately confirmed by the Russians.

One reason, knowledgeable officials said, was that the incident was certain to leak out anyway to American newsmen.

There was also the possibility the Soviets might claim an American submarine or ship had bumped the Russian vessel.

Weekend Drunks Pay Penalties

It was the spirits of the thing that cost six men $167 in fines levied against them Monday by Judge Sterling Lamb.

All six were arrested over the weekend in high spirits and charged with intoxication. Fined were David Campbell, Turner Drive, $10; Robert Reynolds, Circleville, $30; Clarence Taylor, address unknown, $30; and Paul David Tatman, American Hotel, $49 on two fines.

Bob Reynolds forfeited $24 bond on another charge of intoxication and Donald Russell, Orient, also forfeited $24 on the same charge.

Paul David Tatman, received an extra $25 fine for attempting to escape confinement in the city jail following his arrest.

Two Keaton brothers were arrested Saturday evening, fighting in the center of S. Court St. near the police station. James and Charles Keaton, both charged with disorderly conduct, each received a $25 fine and sentenced to 30 days in jail. $250 of the fine was suspended with jail sentence and he was given three years probation.

James Keaton also appeared on a charge of assault and battery filed the day earlier and fined $200 with $50 of the fine suspended. He was ordered to one month in the county jail and placed on probation for three years.

Disturbing the peace and resisting arrest resulted in $200 in fines and 15 days in jail along with three years probation for James Williams, Mt. Sterling.

late substitute Swigert plan at 9:40 p.m. EST tonight to trigger the engine again to increase their 2,600 m.p.h. speed by 558 miles an hour. That would land them in the Pacific Ocean north of New Zealand at 1 p.m. EST Friday.

Mission Control said at midmorning it still favored this plan. But officials huddled for a long time to consider a "superfast" return which would mean a longer burn of the lunar module engine. The result would be an earth landing about 1 p.m. Thursday.

Officials listed two drawbacks:

—The service compartment at the base of the command ship would have to be jettisoned and this could create a heat protection problem.

—The maneuver requires almost perfect alignment of the inertial guidance platform, something that may not be possible with the lunar module system. Normally, the command ship system would be used for such a firing.

"We will continue to study this option several hours," the control center said.

Officials are concerned mainly with the water supply. With 75 hours to go, based on a Friday landing, the spaceship had enough water for 88 hours, a margin of 13 hours. To have this margin, the astronauts will have to power down to minimum electrical power for most of the journey, reducing the average hourly water consumption from five to 2.68 pounds. The water is used for cooling the electronics and cabin oxygen as well as for drinking.

At the same time the oxygen supply was good for another 125 hours, a margin of 50 hours, barring unforeseen events.

President Nixon kept in touch with developments through phone contact with NASA Administrator Thomas O. Paine in Mission Control.

Neither the United States or Russia has a space rescue capability. So the astronauts will have to depend on their skill and that of hundreds of experts on the ground to get home.

Following the tank rupture, the astronauts activated the systems of the attached lunar module, or LM. They opened the connecting tunnel between the two craft so oxygen would flow into the command ship and make it livable.

The cramped LM is difficult to sleep in, so the astronauts will rest in the command ship.

Swigert retired early today while Haise and Lovell monitored the command and lunar ships, respectively, planning to sleep later.

The astronauts remained calm and poised as they wrestled with the many procedures needed to stabilize their craft and to stretch their consumables.

To improve oxygen circulation and prevent a buildup of carbon dioxide in the command ship, Mission Control Center told the astronauts to use a hose from one of the unused space suits and extend it from the LM oxygen supply through the tunnel.

Lovell, Haise and Swigert were told to place any excess water in bags and to turn off all non-essential items requiring power.

Christopher C. Kraft Jr., deputy director of the Manned Spacecraft Center here, said "If the situation remains stabilized, there is no question we can bring them back to earth safely.

The astronauts' dream of achieving man's third lunar landing were dashed by the sudden, chilling accident Monday night that burst a tank and drained their command ship of electrical power and oxygen.

With barely 15 minutes of power remaining in the command vesssel, the astronauts crawled through a connecting tunnel to the safety of the lunar module, or LM, its systems still intact.

"We're concentrating on saving their lives right now rather than learning what happened," said Kraft, who has been flight director for most U.S. astronaut shots.

The accident precipitated "the most serious situation we've ever had in the manned space flight program," he said.

Kraft and other officials appeared calm at a news conference. Later. however, observers noted that Kraft had never appeared so nervous.

Lovell, Haise and Swigert remained cool from the moment, about 10:15 p.m. EST Monday, when Lovell alerted the world with the sudden utterance: "Hey, we've got a problem here."

Scores of persons in Mission Control Center stiffened. They noted an immediate drop in power and oxygen supply in the command ship. Experts troubleshot the problem and radioed hundreds of orders to the astronauts.

The spidery lunar vehicle (LM) became their lifeboat in space, their only hope for salvation. They switched on its systems, and sent oxygen flowing into the command ship, enabling them to inhabit its cabin.

But the LM is built to operate only in airless space and cannot re-enter earth's atmosphere. Therefore, the astronauts must rely on the command ship to take them the final miles back to earth.

They'll have to activate emergency batteries and oxygen supplies in the command cabin in the hours before re-entry, and then kick the LM free before re-entry through the atmosphere.

But first, Apollo 13 must swing behind the moon about 9:30 p.m. EST tonight, skimming some 156 miles above the surface.

Shoplifter Charged

A Kingston woman forfeited $50 bond in Municipal Court today for shoplifting.

Martha P. McNeal, Kingston, was charged with stealing houseslippers, toys, tableware, cosmetics and medicines valued at $5.40 at a local grocery. She forfeited bond by failing to appear in court.

Auto Fire Doused

City firemen were called to Huston and Scioto Streets shortly after 1 p.m. Monday to battle a car fire. The auto, owned by Judith Hashman, suffered $50 damages by the blaze, caused by a short in the wiring.

Youth Fined On Five Violations

Eighty-six charges were filed in Municipal Court over the weekend, five of them against a 19-year-old Circleville boy.

John M. Manson Route 4, appeared before Judge Lamb in Monday's court session, receiving $300 in fines. Manson was arrested by city police on five violations. Fines included: reckless operation, $50; no valid motorcycle operator's license, $100; eluding arresting officers, $50; three days in jail and six month's license suspension; failure to stop for a red light, $50 and speeding 85 in a 35 mile zone, $50.

Three persons were charged with driving while intoxicated. Edgar Combs, 37, of Chillicothe and Larry Stonerock, 20, of 365 Brown St., each paid a $150 fine and will serve a three day jail sentence. Combs' driving privileges were suspended for six months and Stonerock's for 30 days. Also charged with OMVI was a Piketon man, Everett M. Jackson, 48. He was fined $200, sentenced to three days in jail and had his license suspended for one year.

Don E. Carver, 18, Ashville, was fined $15 and costs for speeding.

Forfeiting bond on speeding charges were: Lester Hayslip, 24, Route 1, $24; William L. Yates, 27, Route 2, $19; Gale Lloyd McNeal, 26, of 409 Fay Ave., $24; Julianne Temple, 22, Route 1, $19; Linda M. Hill, 19, of 1010 N. Court St., $24; and Beverly J. Tracy, 21, Route 4, $19.

James Ronald Leach, 21, of Adelphi, forfeited $60 bond on charges of reckless operation. He was cited following a one-vehicle accident in which he and two passengers were injured when he failed to negotiate a turn on the Haysville - Adelphi Pike.

The award was announced at a banquet held Saturday in the American Legion Hall.

John Barry of Cincinnati, a member of the local council, served as toastmaster for the affair, and gave a review of the highlights of the activities for the year.

Past Grand Knights present for the evening included William Thornton, Thomas Shea and Dallas Elliott, Jr. Twenty-five year pins were presented to Eddie Joyce, who has been a member for 30 years, Frank Plescia, Roscoe Gates and Ralph Altmeyer.

Mixed couples handicap bowling tourney, held at Circle D Lanes, champions were Mr. and Mrs. Larry Dietrick, who also took top honors for high team three game scratch, high team one game scratch and high team one game handicap. Second place trophy was won by Mr. and Mrs. Fiske O'Hara, with Mr. and Mrs. Rudloph Chelikowsky, third and Mr. and Mrs. Steve Brudzinski and Mr. and Mrs. Dallas Elliott tied for fourth place.

High individual single game ladies' handicap trophy was won by Mrs. John Dietrich, and high individual three game handicap honors went to Mrs. Larry Dietrich. Individual honors for the men went to Mike Stonerock, high individual single game handicap, and to Rudy Chelikowsky, high individual three games handicap.

Special recognition was given to Mrs. Elizabeth Stonerock, who has five sons who are members of Hannan Council, including Grand Knight McConnell, James McConnell, and Mike, Steve, and Jeff Stonerock. The Stonerock brothers, known professionally as "The Stoney's" provided music for dancing following the program. Assisting Plescia with arrangements for the evening were Richard Sill, James Butler and Grand Knight McConnell.

Topless Workers Novice Milkmaids

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) — Two novice milkmaids—measuring 40-22-36 and 46-24-36—stole the show from two Jersey cows—each 104-120-133—in the annual milking contest between the University of California's Berkeley and Davis campuses.

More than 250 students—several saying they had never seen a cow being milked—witnessed the contest Monday on the steps of Sproul Hall on the Berkeley campus.

Milkmaids Sunny and Tara, both topless dancers in San Francisco's North Beach but clad for the contest, admitted they had never seen a cow close up.

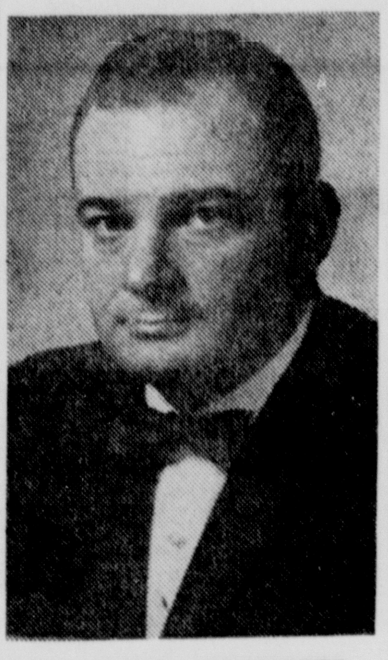
Tara won the contest. She got 10½ ounces of milk to Sunny's half ounce and Berkeley supporters cheered the victory for their campus.

Nickell, Conley Appear In Court

Two more persons indicted by the April 6 term of the Pickaway County Grand jury were arraigned in Common Pleas Court today.

Charles Nickell, indicted for grand larceny and Robert Conley, held for the attempted kidnapping of a Columbus legal secretary, both entered pleas of innocent to the charges and had their bonds continued. Hearings will be held at a later date.

Dr. Schiewetz Transferred



DR. DON B. SCHIEWETZ

Announcement was made today of the transfer of Dr. Don B. Schiewetz to the DuPont 'Mylar' plant in Florence, S. C as Technical Superintendent of the installation.

He joined the DuPont firm in 1954 as a research engineer at the Yerkes Researh and Development Laboratory in Buffalo, N. Y. He later was positioned in the Wilmington Research Lab as technical supervisor in the development section.

His transfer to Circleville came in December, 1962 as manufacturing area supervisor of the local Kapton installation.

Dr. Schiewetz, his wife, Patricia and son, Mark, live at 675 Ridgewood Drive. They are members of Trinity Lutheran Church.

As a resident of Circleville, he has been active in civic and community affairs as a member of Kiwanis Club, past president of Pickaway County Cancer Society and with Indian Guides of the YMCA.

He also served on educational and Congressional action committees of the Chamber of Commerce.

Dr. Schiewetz is a member of AICHE professional society having earned a BS degree in chemical engineering at Northwestern University and a Masters and Doctorate degree in chemical engineering at the University of Cincinnati.

Plan Lineup In Yablonski Slaying Case

CANTON, Ohio (AP) — Some 30 federal witnesses were bused from Cleveland to Canton today to begin viewing FBI lineups including three persons indicted in the slaying of United Mine Workers official Joseph A. Yablonski.

The Stark County sheriff's department said the witnesses would individually view lineups including Paul E. Gilly, 37, his wife Annette, 29, and Claude E. Vealey, 26, three of the five persons indicted earlier on federal charges of conspiring to kill Yablonski.

The Gillys have been held since shortly after their indictment in the Stark County jail. Vealey has been kept in the Summit County jail in Akron.

Sheriff George Papadopulos said the lineup viewings would take three to four hours, running into the afternoon.

Federal authorities in Cleveland did not identify any of the witnesses, but they were believed to have been persons who might have seen participants in the alleged Yablonski murder plot in Kentucky, Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Tennessee and southern Ohio. None were believed to be members or officials of the U.M.W.

Jailbreak Bid Foiled

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP)— Four juveniles being held in the Mahoning County Jail failed early this morning to break out of jail after they hit a jailer over the head with a broomstick, deputies said.

Two women dispatchers responsible for the automatic control of the jail's elevator from the fourth floor down foiled the attempt by freezing the elevator between the third and fourth floors.

The four had operated the elevator manually from the sixth to the fourth floors and ordered the dispatchers to send them down to the first floor.

Sheriff's Capt. Orlando Dilulo said juvenile court charges of assaulting a police officer and attempting a jail break were being considered against the youths, all 17 years old and from the Youngstown area.

Soviet Atom Sub Said Lost

Believe 88 Aboard May Have Been Lost

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Soviet nuclear attack submarine, perhaps with as many as 88 crewmen aboard, apparently has been lost in Atlantic waters 400 miles northwest of the Spanish coast.

The word came Monday from the Defense Department, which reported that American planes observed at least some of the drama of the high seas incident before the submarine disappeared last weekend.

The 3,500-ton vessel, one of a class of hunter-killer submarines capable of tailing American ships, was seen in distress Friday and Saturday, then vanished Sunday—with two oil slicks remaining.

No one actually saw her go down but Navy antisubmarine patrol planes had watched over the weekend as two Soviet surface ships attempted unsuccessfully to tie a towline to the sub in rough seas.

At one point Soviet crewmen stood on the deck of the surfaced submarine. The U.S. Navy P3 Orion planes, flying from an airbase in the Azores, saw none of them leave.

"Late yesterday the Soviet surface ships were still in the area where the submarine was first sighted and were apparently conducting a search," the Pentagon said Monday. "It is possible that the Soviet nuclear submarine may have sunk."

The apparent loss came 23 months after an American nuclear submarine, the USS Scorpion, mysteriously vanished with a crew of 99 in the Atlantic while returning from a Mediterranean exercise.

There were no obvious similarities in the two incidents, however. The Scorpion was never sighted nor heard from and apparently disintegrated in the ocean depths.

Scorpion debris was later found 400 miles southwest of the Azores. The Soviet submarine was spotted 400 miles northwest of Cape Finisterre, Spain—roughly 1,000 miles from the Scorpion's grave.

The question arose as to why the Pentagon elected to announce the Soviet misfortune, which was not immediately confirmed by the Russians.

One reason, knowledgeable officials said, was that the incident was certain to leak out anyway to American newsmen.

There was also the possibility the Soviets might claim an American submarine or ship had bumped the Russian vessel.

Weekend Drunks Pay Penalties

It was the spirits of the thing that cost six men $167 in fines levied against them Monday by Judge Sterling Lamb.

All six were arrested over the weekend in high spirits and charged with intoxication. Fined were David Campbell, Turner Drive, $10; Robert Reynolds, Circleville, $30; Clarence Taylor, address unknown, $30; and Paul David Tatman, American Hotel, $49 on two fines.

Bob Reynolds forfeited $24 bond on another charge of intoxication and Donald Russell, Orient, also forfeited $24 on the same charge.

Paul David Tatman, received an extra $25 fine for attempting to escape confinement in the city jail following his arrest.

Two Keaton brothers were arrested Saturday evening, fighting in the center of S. Court St. near the police station. James and Charles Keaton, both charged with disorderly conduct, each received a $25 fine and sentenced to 30 days in jail. $250 of the fine was suspended with jail sentence and he was given three years probation.

James Keaton also appeared on a charge of assault and battery filed the day earlier and fined $200 with $50 of the fine suspended. He was ordered to one month in the county jail and placed on probation for three years.

Disturbing the peace and resisting arrest resulted in $200 in fines and 15 days in jail along with three years probation for James Williams, Mt. Sterling.

late substitute Swigert plan at 9:40 p.m. EST tonight to trigger the engine again to increase their 2,600 m.p.h. speed by 558 miles an hour. That would land them in the Pacific Ocean north of New Zealand at 1 p.m. EST Friday.

Mission Control said at midmorning it still favored this plan. But officials huddled for a long time to consider a "superfast" return which would mean a longer burn of the lunar module engine. The result would be an earth landing about 1 p.m. Thursday.

Officials listed two drawbacks:

—The service compartment at the base of the command ship would have to be jettisoned and this could create a heat protection problem.

—The maneuver requires almost perfect alignment of the inertial guidance platform, something that may not be possible with the lunar module system. Normally, the command ship system would be used for such a firing.

"We will continue to study this option several hours," the control center said.

Officials are concerned mainly with the water supply. With 75 hours to go, based on a Friday landing, the spaceship had enough water for 88 hours, a margin of 13 hours. To have this margin, the astronauts will have to power down to minimum electrical power for most of the journey, reducing the average hourly water consumption from five to 2.68 pounds. The water is used for cooling the electronics and cabin oxygen as well as for drinking.

At the same time the oxygen supply was good for another 125 hours, a margin of 50 hours, barring unforeseen events.

President Nixon kept in touch with developments through phone contact with NASA Administrator Thomas O. Paine in Mission Control.

Neither the United States or Russia has a space rescue capability. So the astronauts will have to depend on their skill and that of hundreds of experts on the ground to get home.

Following the tank rupture, the astronauts activated the systems of the attached lunar module, or LM. They opened the connecting tunnel between the two craft so oxygen would flow into the command ship and make it livable.

The cramped LM is difficult to sleep in, so the astronauts will rest in the command ship.

Swigert retired early today while Haise and Lovell monitored the command and lunar ships, respectively, planning to sleep later.

The astronauts remained calm and poised as they wrestled with the many procedures needed to stabilize their craft and to stretch their consumables.

To improve oxygen circulation and prevent a buildup of carbon dioxide in the command ship, Mission Control Center told the astronauts to use a hose from one of the unused space suits and extend it from the LM oxygen supply through the tunnel.

Lovell, Haise and Swigert were told to place any excess water in bags and to turn off all non-essential items requiring power.

Christopher C. Kraft Jr., deputy director of the Manned Spacecraft Center here, said "If the situation remains stabilized, there is no question we can bring them back to earth safely.

The astronauts' dream of achieving man's third lunar landing were dashed by the sudden, chilling accident Monday night that burst a tank and drained their command ship of electrical power and oxygen.

With barely 15 minutes of power remaining in the command vesssel, the astronauts crawled through a connecting tunnel to the safety of the lunar module, or LM, its systems still intact.

The rupture could have been caused by an overpressurized tank or perhaps a speeding meteor.

"We're concentrating on saving their lives right now rather than learning what happened," said Kraft, who has been flight director for most U.S. astronaut shots.

The accident precipitated "the most serious situation we've ever had in the manned space flight program," he said.

Kraft and other officials appeared calm at a news conference. Later, however, observers noted that Kraft had never appeared so nervous.

Lovell, Haise and Swigert remained cool from the moment, about 10:15 p.m. EST Monday, when Lovell alerted the world with the sudden utterance: "Hey, we've got a problem here."

Scores of persons in Mission Control Center stiffened. They noted an immediate drop in power and oxygen supply in the command ship. Experts troubleshot the problem and radioed hundreds of orders to the astronauts.

The spidery lunar vehicle (LM) became their lifeboat in space, their only hope for salvation. They switched on its systems, and sent oxygen flowing into the command ship, enabling them to inhabit its cabin.

But the LM is built to operate only in airless space and cannot re-enter earth's atmosphere. Therefore, the astronauts must rely on the command ship to take them the final miles back to earth.

They'll have to activate emergency batteries and oxygen supplies in the command cabin in the hours before re-entry, and then kick the LM free before re-entry through the atmosphere.

But first, Apollo 13 must swing behind the moon about 9:30 p.m. EST tonight, skimming some 156 miles above the surface.

Yugoslav Leaders Fear Convulsion To Follow Tito Death

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

Yugoslavia never had it so good economically. For that reason as much as any other, it is fearful. The Russians are annoyed.

From the look of things, Moscow and its bloc allies are neck-deep in intrigue aimed at toppling Yugoslavia's system of socialism. Moscow says it isn't socialism at all. For the Kremlin there is only one socialism—Soviet.

Two brands of Yugoslav Communists are working one against the other—the go-go boys of the new era and the die-hard conservatives, many of whom now seem to yearn for the uncomplicated old days of Stalin's domination. The conservatives may be getting ready for a power struggle with Soviet help, perhaps after Tito dies. Should they succeed, the drastic change in the strategic picture will shake Europe.

Tito turns 78 next month. His strong personality accomplished almost a miracle in Yugoslavia. The country is a federation of six "Socialist republics" with a variesty of creeds and nationalities. It has a Balkan history of feuds, fragmentation, foreign domination and wars. Tito has kept it together for a quarter century and at the same time stayed out of the embrace of the Russian bear.

In the normal course of events, if Tito should die, the presidency would be assumed under the constitution by Col. Gen. Koca Popovic, 62, the former foreign minister who is now vice president. He would hold it until elections, and would then be in a strong position to stay. He is a tough, long-time confidant of Tito who doesn't care for the Russians.

But there could be a good deal of trouble, perhaps even before Tito passes from the scene.

The Yugoslav League of Communists, as the ruling party calls itself, obviously is worried by pressure from external sources at a time when internal political difficulties could generate the sort of confusion in which the Russians like to operate.

Leading party newspapers speak frequently these days of the "Cominformists," who include those never reconciled to the economic reforms and the political system which encourage workers' self-management and incentives.

The name refers to the Cominform—the now defunct Communist Information Bureau organized by Moscow under Stalin in 1947 to insure bloc obedience. The Cominform pronounced Tito a heretic for talking back to Stalin and read him out of the family. The term "Cominformist" today does not necessarily refer to veterans of 1948 as such, but to a state of mind.

Outside Yugoslavia the Cominformists are the present Moscow rulers and some men in other bloc parties. Inside Yugoslavia they include many in the party, government and army bureaucracies, who fear the economic reforms which permitted Yugoslavs to enjoy markedly better living standards than their Communist-dominated neighbors. The Yugoslav press says often that Moscow is afraid of the influence of the Yugoslav system on other countries.

The party newspaper Politka, commenting early this year, claimed the Cominformists within were encouraged by criticisms of the regime "from the East."

The worries are compounded by an internal political situation generated by pressure from below for less centralization of authority. Croatia's Communists, for example, demand more autonomy.

The party has been losing members from expulsion or resignation at the rate of 23,000 a year for four years, largely because of apathy. Most losses are from ranks of workers and youth. Party membership remains stable at about 1,150,000 with new admissions, but the leaders are displeased with the caliber.

What seems to anger Belgrade most about the Russians is that support of the Cominformists is accompanied by Muscovite insistence that every "Socialist" country owes unquestioning obedience to Moscow. Czechoslovakia in 1968 was an example to those who deviated.

As if suggesting that Yugoslavia was subjected to the threat of military pressure, the press commented angrily on recent military meaneuvers in the western part of the U.S.S.R. The Yugoslavs said these were "motivated by bloc policy" and were along a "strategic operational route in central Europe."

The official Belgrade press displayed much anger at a West German newspaper report of a military coup in the making in Yugoslavia. Belgrade's press suggested that such stories were planted by outside enemies.

It all added up to considerable sensitiveness in Belgrade, whose suspicions of planted rumors, aimed at keeping politics churned up and politicians off balance, might be well founded.

Trial Of Sailor Seen As Free Speech Test

WASHINGTON (AP) — In a setting reminiscent of the famous Billy Mitchell court-martial, the Navy is trying a young sailor for publishing a newspaper critical of government officials.

The trial of Seaman Appren. Roger Priest, opening today, is considered a major test of the constitutional rights of servicemen by his supporters and as a test of discipline by the Pentagon.

Col. Billy Mitchell, considered the father of American air power, was court-martialed 45 years ago for publicly criticizing the military establishment.

Priest is charged with soliciting military personnel to desert and to commit sedition through his antiwar newspaper, known as "OM, The Servicemen's Newsletter," which the 26-year-old sailor from Houston published while stationed at the Pentagon.

The paper referred to Secretary of Defense Melvin Laird as "people's enemy No. 1." It used such epithets as "Pig" in describing Laird; Rep. L. Mendel Rivers, D-S.C., chairman of the House Armed Services Committee, and Gen. Earle G. Wheeler, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

OM proclaimed "today's pigs are tomorrow's bacon" and "we will stop at nothing to stop the Vietnam war, and power arrangements that made it possible."

A military judge dropped the desertion and sedition soliciting charge as too vague but reinstated it when Rear Adm. George P. Koch, commandant of the Washington Naval District, ordered the judge to reconsider.

David Rein, Priest's civilian lawyer, appealed in vain to the U.S. Court of Military Appeals that Koch exerted "undue pressure" on the case.

Other charges are publishing statements urging insubordination, disloyalty and refusal of duty by members of the military with intent to impair loyalty, morale and discipline, and publishing statements designed to promote disloyalty and disaffection in the armed forces.

The Navy is expected to avoid the free speech issue in the Priest case and argue, as the Army did against Mitchell, that the statements constitute a breach of discipline that could undermine the entire military structure.

Rein calls it "a classic First Amendment case," and that he will contend Priest has the same right of free speech as a sailor that he would have as a civilian.

In an unsuccessful attempt to hold down the dramatic impact of the Mitchell court martial, the Army held it in cramped quarters in an old warehouse.

The Navy, apparently with the same objective in mind, has moved Priest's trial to a barracks-like structure at the Washington Naval Station in the Anacostia section of the District of Columbia, although preliminary proceedings were held in the more accessible Washington Navy Yard.

The small courtroom has space for only about 60 persons. No picketing is permitted within several hundred yards of the building, and the isolation would tend to lessen the impact of any demonstrations.

Mitchell was concerned that military traditionalists were neglecting air power. When all else failed, he deliberately sought court-martial in order to get his message across.

Mitchell was given a five-year suspension from the Army after being convicted of insubordination, contemptuousness and disrespectifulness and of conduct "to the prejudice of good order and military dscipline."

After World War II vindicated many of Mitchell's predictions and views, Congress condemned the court-martial and erased the sentence from the record.

even if their ship were a derelict.

Many hours before they had forsaken the relative safety of a "free return" that would have required only the pull of the moon and the earth to put them back on earth. Deliberately they had changed the course so Lovell and Fred W. Haise Jr., could land on the moon.

"We're looking at it." A hundred experts on the ground, others quickly summoned. But advice was all that was possible to help three men in a disabled ship.

"Okay, right now, Houston, the voltage is looking good. And we had a pretty large bang associated with the caution and warning there."

"Roger Fred." Fred Haise, a first-timer in space. Beside him John L. Swigert Jr., also a rookie, but more so, an emergency substitute on the flight.

"It's a gas of some sort." They could see it out of their window. Droplets that turned into snow and drifted off like feathers from a molting bird.

The gas, it turned out, was their oxygen a commodity on which their very lives depend.

Back and forth, across the miles, spun the questions, the numbers, the readings. Crisp and cool. Urgent, but not panicked.

"Okay, 13, we've got lots and lots of people working on this, we'll get you some dope as soon as we have it and you'll be the first to know."

"Oh, thank you."

Nobody said it but they knew and the ground knew that now there was no possibility of landing on the moon. Now the only thing was to use the power that remained—the power that would have set them on the lunar surface—to get back to earth.

"I didn't think I'd be back this soon," said Fred Haise, who would have been the sixth human to touch the moon.

Mission Control held a conference for newsmen. Enough oxygen and electrical power, said the experts. It will be close, but they'll get home if nothing else bad happens.

Like kissing cousins the command ship Odyssey and the lunar lander Aquarius continued on to the moon. Now for Aquarius there was not the noble voyage to the highlands of the moon, nor the splendor of being crashed empty against its surface in the name of science.

Now they were plundering her holds for the oxygen they'd need to sustain them on a four-day journey back to earth, more than ever full of risks.

Ohio Approves Ross-Pickaway Vo-Ed School

The Ross-Pickaway Vocational School was one of the schools approved by the State Department of Education Monday.

Schools involved in the district are Circleville, Westfall and Logan Elm from Pickaway County. Chillicothe, Adena, Huntington, Paint Valley, Scioto Valley, Union-Scioto, Zane Trace and Bishop Flaget from Ross County.

Teays Valley is not included because it has taken steps to become part of the Eastland Vocational District in Franklin County.

Voters of the districts involved will vote on an estimated .54 mills bond issue for construction purposes with the State Board of Education participating on a 50-50 matching basis.

* * *

ACCORDING to the proposal the estimated operating cost of the school will be $855,000 with the state reimbursing the local vocational district with $335,000.

This will leave $520,000 operating cost to be raised by the local district. The voters will be asked to pass a 1.75 mill operating levy.

Present state guidelines require that vocational education be provided for juniors and seniors and any student 16 years old or over enrolled in grades 7, 8, 9 or 10.

The vocational plan is required to be implemented by 1974.

Four Villages Sign New Jail Contracts

Signed contracts from four Pickaway County villages were returned to County Commissioners Monday.

The contracts were from Williamsport, New Holland, Commercial Point and Tarlton. Previously, Ashville, South Bloomfield and Orient had returned contracts.

The county now has contracts with all of the villages, although the city of Circleville has not yet returned a contract for housing prisoners in the jail.

The new contracts call for a $4.50 per day rate for keep of the prisoners, or for 1.50 per meal for those housed less than 24 hours.

Commissioners Wayne Hines and Dick T. Tootle yesterday approved a resolution that "in the best interests of the operation of the Pickaway County Sheriff's Department" two cruisers should be traded. Sheriff Dwight Radcliff has been instructed to prepare specifications by next Monday so bids may be advertised.

In other action the Justus Subdivision in Washington Twp. was approved. The subdivision is being developed by Paul Justice, contains six lots and 7.30 acres. It is located on the E. Ringgold-Southern Road.

The transfer of two tracts of land in Harrison Twp. belonging to Jannett Shannon were approved. The two tracts are four acres each.

Commissioners were not in session Monday morning due to the funeral of Mrs. George Macklin, sister of Commissioner Charles Morris.

Seek New Trial For James Ray

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP)—Attorneys for James Earl Ray, admitted assassin of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., have renewed attempts to obtain a new trial for him.

Richard J. Ryan, representing Ray, filed a court petition Monday alleging that his client's plea of guilty to the slaying followed 24 hours under surveillance and without legal counsel in the Shelby County jail.

Ray, who is serving 99 years in prison, pleaded guilty last year to the rifle slaying of the civil rights leader here April 4, 1968.

"Let's just let them go through it." Slight irritation, a father admonishing children to be quiet.

"We're just getting there. Let them go through the items one at a time."

A stranger entering Mission Control unaware of the crisis in space would have labeled the scene dull. But the little things told the story.

Dr. Robert Gilruth, director of the Manned Spacecraft Center, sat slumped at a console, tieless, sleeves rolled up.

Lunney and his Black team came to work about an hour after the Apollo 13 emergency arose, bringing fresh faces, straight ties and wrinkleless shirts.

But as the night wore on and dawn creeped up on Houston, faces grew long and haggard. The keen, adrenalin-fed edge of excitement began wearing off. The long, tedious wait began.

The wait continues at least until Friday, with two other equally competent teams of flight controllers sharing the suspense.

"Will they have enough," one of the controllers asked about the life-giving electrical supply in the lunar lander.

"They'll have enough, but just barely," someone murmured.

Yugoslav Leaders Fear Convulsion To Follow Tito Death

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

Yugoslavia never had it so good economically. For that reason as much as any other, it is fearful. The Russians are annoyed.

From the look of things, Moscow and its bloc allies are neck-deep in intrigue aimed at toppling Yugoslavia's system of socialism. Moscow says it isn't socialism at all. For the Kremlin there is only one socialism—Soviet.

Two brands of Yugoslav Communists are working one against the other—the go-go boys of the new era and the die-hard conservatives, many of whom now seem to yearn for the uncomplicated old days of Stalin's domination. The conservatives may be getting ready for a power struggle with Soviet help, perhaps after Tito dies. Should they succeed, the drastic change in the strategic picture will shake Europe.

Tito turns 78 next month. His strong personality accomplished almost a miracle in Yugoslavia. The country is a federation of six "Socialist republics" with a variesty of creeds and nationalities. It has a Balkan history of feuds, fragmentation, foreign domination and wars. Tito has kept it together for a quarter century and at the same time stayed out of the embrace of the Russian bear.

In the normal course of events, if Tito should die, the presidency would be assumed under the constitution by Col. Gen. Koca Popovic, 62, the former foreign minister who is now vice president. He would hold it until elections, and would then be in a strong position to stay. He is a tough, long-time confidant of Tito who doesn't care for the Russians.

But there could be a good deal of trouble, perhaps even before Tito passes from the scene.

The Yugoslav League of Communists, as the ruling party calls itself, obviously is worried by pressure from external sources at a time when internal political difficulties could generate the sort of confusion in which the Russians like to operate.

Leading party newspapers speak frequently these days of the "Cominformists," who include those never reconciled to the economic reforms and the political system which encourage workers' self-management and incentives.

"Let's just let them go through it." Slight irritation, a father admonishing children to be quiet.

"We're just getting there. Let them go through the items one at a time."

A stranger entering Mission Control unaware of the crisis in space would have labeled the scene dull. But the little things told the story.

Dr. Robert Gilruth, director of the Manned Spacecraft Center, sat slumped at a console, tieless, sleeves rolled up.

Lunney and his Black team came to work about an hour after the Apollo 13 emergency arose, bringing fresh faces, straight ties and wrinkleless shirts.

But as the night wore on and dawn creeped up on Houston, faces grew long and haggard. The keen, adrenalin-fed edge of excitement began wearing off. The long, tedious wait began.

The wait continues at least until Friday, with two other equally competent teams of flight controllers sharing the suspense.

"Will they have enough," one of the controllers asked about the life-giving electrical supply in the lunar lander.

Science To The Rescue

Some ingenious research is being conducted by scientists in a number of countries on the problem of solid waste disposal. The problem really is one of reclamation. Instead of pulverizing, burying or burning solid wastes, the ultimate solution must be to eliminate them completely or re-use them over and over.

Current research is going in both directions. Some of it is highly specialized, such as the study at Louisiana State University which produced a micro-organism capable of breaking down cellulose waste and converting it into pure protein with the texture of rough flour and the color of straw.

Successful in producing 50 pounds of protein from 250 pounds of sugarcane plant residue, the researchers are now turning their attention to converting cornstalks, wood chips and even newsprint into a nutritional food base. If it can be done economically, the value of such a process goes far beyond the disposal problem.

In other studies, scientists are exploring containers which will disintegrate into mulch when exposed to sunlight or air for any length of time. Several European cities are creating energy successfully by burning trash in smokeless incinerators. The University of Illinois has a study underway to convert organic wastes into natural gas.

And so it goes in innumerable projects. The scientist's natural curiosity in expanding man's capabilities to the fullest is having a heyday with the problem of turning refuse into something usable.

The challenge now being met in the laboratory will result in practical applications in many cases. In some, it already has.

The voices of doomsday which can be heard bewailing man's burial under his own wastes have little appreciation of the abilities of men of knowledge and inventiveness. The forces of ingenuity are now being assembled.

From their talents will come a revolution in civilization so all-encompassing it boggles the mind.

No More Credit

What would happen to retail establishments located downtown in a large city if credit companies suddenly called in all the credit cards? Washington, D. C., is about to find out.

The shopping district in the nation's capital already is suffering from the usual traumas, as well as some unusual ones — including a high crime rate which is keeping people away. But something perhaps even more serious has happened. A wave of credit card thefts has descended upon the city and the credit companies are suffering heavy losses.

As a consequence, many of them are cancelling their arrangements with the city's stores. Many merchants have been forced to go on a cash-only basis, which is seriously affecting sales. No one seems to know what to do, including the Post Office, which is investigating credit card thefts.

Washington merchants will gain scant satisfaction in the knowledge they are the guinea pigs in a demonstration of how important credit has become in American commerce.

Homage To Pioneers

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

The rumbles about the plans for "Earth Day" on April 22 are, in one sense, disturbing. Veterans of the "ecological struggle," who have been working for years to promote what they call the "science of survival," have been ignored by the high school and college crowd that is trying to make the anti-pollution crusade "their thing." On the other hand, there are the science teachers in the 4,000 schools that intend to participate in "Earth Day" exercises — and these represent a stable element in promoting an awareness of the need to clean up the environment. They will be there next year after this year's crusade, which threatens to become a short-sighted anti-capitalist binge, has given way to something else.

It disturbed me to learn that my friend, Devin Garrity, who, as the head of the Devin Adair Publishing Company, has been publishing eological books for years and is now promoting an Ecological Book Club, has not been asked to do a blessed thing in connection with the "Earth Day" program. Nor has Mrs. Joy Lee, who started the conservation group known as PYE (Protect Your Environment) at the Thomas School in Rowayton, Conn. Either the young don't know who their natural allies are, or they are not sincere about working with individuals or groups which have shown some success in pushing the conservation cause within the framework of the only political and economic system that we have, or are likely to have for years to come.

The saga of Mrs. Lee ought to get top billing this April 22. It wasn't so very long ago that there was only one PYE club, the one formed at the Thomas School to preserve Connecticut coastal wetlands from the indiscriminate dumping of old tires and rusty iron. The Thomas School club did yeoman work in persuading the Conneticut Legislature to pass a law calling for a survey and preservation of Connectiut's salt marshes, which are important spawning grounds for fish.

This is a local story, but the subsequent adventures of the PYE clubs is national. Almost within the space of a year the number of PYE groups has jumped from a solitary one to a busy sixty. And 77,000 PYE buttons have been sold to the clubs' supporters. Mrs. Lee has since transferred her efforts to Georgia, where she has persuaded Governor Lester Maddox to support new legislation designed to save the famous Glynn marshes, which make Connecticut salt meadows look pygmy-size by comparison.

Mrs. Lee, in a telephone conversation, said she felt sad that she hadn't been asked to do anything in connection with "Earth Day." But she refuses to be downcast about the long-term chances for a sound anti-pollution movement. The young people, she said, would ultimately learn that you don't spread a gospel very efficiently by "baking people into corners." Her Thomas School girls in Connecticut moved through existing community channels to pressure the State Legislature into doing something about preserving the tidelands. They deluged the legislators with some 800 personal handwritten letters. They got the commuters, many of whom are fishing and sailing fanatics, interested in something that would be good for their own hobbies, which depend on a clean Long Island Sound. She would like to drive it home to the Students for a Democratic Society crowd that they are dependent on capitalistic industry for the technological information and methods that will, some day, get pollution out of our air and streams. And, even more important, there are those teachers of the "Earth Sciences," who will be the backbone of any continuing interest in the conservation movement.

As for Mr. Garrity and his publishing company, which, because it is conservatively oriented, has struggled ever since the Thirties without getting much help from our liberal review media, they aren't surprised that the "Earth Day" organizers haven't asked them for help in promoting the "ecological view." They are used to a lonely fight. But it could be of interest that one of the Devin Adair ecologial books, "The Web of Life" by John Storer, has sold more than a million copies in paperback. Or that Marjory Bartlett Sanger's "World of the Great White Heron," a study of the ecology of the Florida keys, has been one factor in the success of the movement to save the Everglades, which are just to the north of the keys. The fight for a clean environment wasn't born yesterday and the "Earth Day" demonstrators owe it to themselves to learn something about the pioneers who have made their movement possible.

Early in his career, young Clarence Darrow was defending a client against an older, more experienced attorney who sarcastically dismissed Darrow as "that beardless youth."

Darrow rebutted, "My worthy adversary seems to downgrade me for not having a beard. Let me reply with a story: The King of Spain once dispatched a youthful nobleman to the court of a neighboring monarch, who sneered, 'Does the King of Spain lack men, that he sends me a beardless boy?' To which the young ambassador replied, 'Sire, if my King had supposed that you equated wisdom with a beard, he would have sent a goat.' "

Clarence Darrow won the case.

Speaking Of Your Health

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

The growth of group therapy during the past ten years has been tremendous. More and more persons who are unable, either because of time or expense, to undertake long intensive psychotherapy have become part of this program. I gather from many of my readers that there is confusion about it, its advantages and disadvantages.

There are now many schools of psychotherapy, each with its own group of enthusiasts and adherents. Some are identified with the teaching of Freud, others with Jung, Adler, Horney, and others. The approach varies with each, but all have a single purpose and goal, namely, to help a person gain a greater insight into his own emotions. In this way, he can adjust hmself and adapt to the stresses of modern day living.

Every person who has been in analysis will fight to the quick that "their school of analysis" is the only and most important approach to emotional problems. It is pointless to try to convince them that other schools have their own enthusiasts who are as fixed in their beliefs as they are.

I have always felt that people who are in psychotherapy learn the jargon and actually believe that they are the critical evaluators of other types of therapy. Persons who would not dream of talking about their diabetes, or urinary problem in a social group, far too often become involved in discussions about their psyche.

People who recovered from tuberculosis are not really experts in this disease. Similarly, those who are learning to handle their neuroses are not the ideal people to hand out psychological advice to others.

The fact that one can say obsession, guilt, hostility, frustration and aggression, does not make him a trained psychologist unless he is one. Even physicians who are psychologically oriented side-track complicated emotional problems and refer patients to specialists in the field.

Group therapy is one of the newer analytical approaches that reduce the tme and the expense for patients as they seek relief from their problems and anxiety. The advantages of group therapy are many. It is felt by some therapists that group sessions may even be more valuable to certain people than individual treatment.

This decision must depend on the judgment of a psychotherapist who evaluates each case individually.

There are many areas in the United States where individual psychotherapy is virtually impossible because so few analysts are available. Group therapy may make it possible for many more people to be helped rather than a select few.

Everywhere in the United States and Europe new group sensitivity programs have been set up, all with a new angle. Some of these groups are known as encounter groups, confrontation groups and training laboratories. Hundreds of people are attracted to these offshoots of the Esalen Institute in California.

Unfortunately, there is potential danger in such groups which, unlike Esalen, do not have trained psychiatrists or psychologists. To enter a group without excellent leadershp is to play games with dynamite. Before anyone gets involved, they should seek the stamp of approval of their own physician.

The Business World

By JOHN CUNNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) — Moral and social concerns will attain equal weight with financial considerations in the stock market of the future if the Council on Economic Priorities is successful.

Young and spirited, its members are confident they can influence the nation's corporations to be more concerned with human needs by providing factual information on their commitment to social, environmental and military issues.

This information, they feel, will enable socially concerned individuals and nonprofit groups such as churches, universities and foundations to exert influence through the power of their billions of dollars in stock holdings.

"Social accountability will be forthcoming if a concerned and informed public demands it," the council announces in its prospectus.

Many months in formation, the council has scheduled its first news conference for April 16 at its Washington headquarters.

The very idea is bound to bring snorts from some Wall Street oldtimers who hold to the belief that so long as a corporation makes money for its investors, the investors should not concern themselves further.

The council, however, has apparently won the friendship and allegiance of some young securities analysts, as well as educators, clergy and students. It welcomes an invitation to tell its story before the N..Y Society of Securities Analysts.

"The general public, students, investors and corporations need objective analyses of the effectiveness of the activities of specific corporations in meeting human needs," the council states.

Almost every conceivable type of information relating to a company's profit situation is available, the council's founders claim, and for the easily understood reason that investors decline to buy into poorly run firms.

It feels that many investors, including nonprofit groups that own more than $26 billion of stock on the N.Y. Stock Exchange, would be able to exert their influence if more information were available.

The council's first project, a listing of corporations which hold antipersonnel weapons contracts, is to be the subject of the first news conference. From then on it hopes to pour out a steady supply of factual data.

Among founders of the council are Alice Tepper, a young former financial analyst who developed a "peace portfolio" for a Boston management and research corporation. She is council director.

Chairman is Edward McCallan Swan Jr., 28, a cofounder of a computer-based college recruiting system called COMPU-JOB, and officer of a concern that has had plans to build hotels in the Virgin Islands.

An advisor to the council's research fellows is Edgar Lockwood, well-to-do lawyer who later became an Episcopal priest and who is now associated with St. Stephen and The Incarnation parishes in Washington, D.C.

The council has a staff of six but many volunteers. To help meet expenses, it hopes soon to publish a "Student's Guide to Corporations," a book that will report corporate stands on social issues.

WASHINGTON MEMO

By Congressman
CHALMERS P. WYLIE
15th District of Ohio

On a roll call vote of 312 to 58, the House passed and sent to the President a bill authorizing $24.8 billion in federal aid to elementary and secondary schools over the next three years.

One provision of this bill would increase funds for impacted area aid to school districts educating children by including pupils living in tax-exempt, low-income housing projects. Impacted area aid under the present system goes only to districts serving children of federal employees. This aid is essential to school districts such as Teays Valley, Hamilton Township, South Western, and Groveport, which are school districts with a large number of dependent military children in their schools.

This legislation also provides authorization for monies to purchase library books and textbooks, construction of educational centers as well as increasing aid to state and local educational agencies. Title 6 of this bill provides for education of the handicapped through state grants, centers, personnel training, research, and instructional media. A special section will allocate funds for bilingual education.

Adult education, which has been a huge success under the original elementary and secondary education act, received an authorization of 200 million dollars I believe adults who have the initiative to further their education should have the wholehearted support of our government. I supported and voted for this legislation, as I believe it will go far to eliminate some of the difficult problems facing our school administrators.

On Tuesday, April 7, the House passed and sent to the Senate a bill which would provide a temporary 15 per cent increase in railroad retirement monthly benefits up to a maximum increase of $50 per month for employees annuities and $25 per month for survivor annuities. For social security increase to a $10 monthly minimum increase for employees and $5 for survivors. The bill would provide a temporary change in the method of investment of funds in the railroad retirement account by requiring the Treasury Department to reinvest railroad retirement account funds and sell low-interest obligations held by accounts. The bill also authorizes an overall study of the railroad retirement system, and a report to Congress one year prior to 30 June 1972, the date of the expiration of the benefit increase and investment modification.

By a non-record vote the House passed a bill to change the National Gold and Silver Stamping Act of 1906 by providing a civil remedy for misrepresentation of the quality of articles made from gold and silver. In addition, this bill would enable any customer, competitor, jewelry trade association or subsequent purchaser of an article in violation of this Act to obtain relief.

The prospect of a nation-wide rail strike has once again loomed before the American people. This basic transportation component of our modern industrial society was about to be strangled, causing severe personal and economic hardships for the entire nation.

On December 4, 1969, representatives of the railroads and the shop craft unions agreed to a Memorandum of Understanding. The terms and conditions of employment set out in this document had been reached by the collective bargaining process. When the Memorandum was submitted to the union members, it was ratified by a majority of all members voting and by a majority of those voting in three of the four unions. The sheet-metal workers failed to ratify the Memorandum, which amounted to disapproval by all railroad workers.

Your elected representatives in Congress have the responsibility of preventing such a major transportation crisis. Thus, when faced with a nation-wide strike, the Congress passed legislation on March 5, 1970, prohibiting a strike or a lockout until April 11, 1970. Hoefully, the parties would use the interim to settle the dispute. Since no voluntary accord was forthcoming, Congress passed legislation requiring the parties to accept the terms of the Memorandum of Understanding until December 31, 1970.

In my opinion, the disruptive effect of a major rail strike would have placed an intolerable burden on the economy and the war effort. I, therefore, voted in favor of this law. The measure will prevent great national harm, and still give the railroads and union ample time to negotiate a voluntary collective bargaining agreement for the coming year.

Passed on Tuesday, April 7, was a bill to revise the organizational structure of the First Division of the National Railroad Adjustment Board by providing that both the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers and the United Transportation Union may have two representatives on the division, of whom only one may vote. The bill also provides that the carriers may have four representatives on the first division of whom only two may vote. This legislation was supported by the Nixon Administration, the National Mediation Board, the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, the United Transportation Union and all affected railroads.

They got the commuters, many of whom are fishing and sailing fanatics, interested in something that would be good for their own hobbies, which depend on a clean Long Island Sound. She would like to drive it home to the Students for a Democratic Society crowd that they are dependent on capitalistic industry for the technological information and methods that will, some day, get pollution out of our air and streams. And, even more important, there are those teachers of the "Earth Sciences," who will be the backbone of any continuing interest in the conservation movement.

As for Mr. Garrity and his publishing company, which, because it is conservatively oriented, has struggled ever since the Thirties without getting much help from our liberal review media, they aren't surprised that the "Earth Day" organizers haven't asked them for help in promoting the "ecological view." They are used to a lonely fight. But it could be of interest that one of the Devin Adair ecoiogial books, "The Web of Life" by John Storer, has sold more than a million copies in paperback. Or that Marjory Bartlett Sanger's "World of the Great White Heron," a study of the ecology of the Florida keys, has been one factor in the success of the movement to save the Everglades, which are just to the north of the keys. The fight for a clean environment wasn't born yesterday and the "Earth Day" demonstrators owe it to themselves to learn something about the pioneers who have made their movement possible.

Try and Stop Me

Early in his career, young Clarence Darrow was defending a client against an older, more experienced attorney who sarcastically dismissed Darrow as "that beardless youth."

Darrow rebutted, "My worthy adversary seems to downgrade me for not having a beard. Let me reply with a story: The King of Spain once dispatched a youthful nobleman to the court of a neighboring monarch, who sneered, 'Does the King of Spain lack men, that he sends me a beardless boy?' To which the young ambassador replied, 'Sire, if my King had supposed that you equated wisdom with a beard, he would have sent a goat.'"

Clarence Darrow won the case.

Speaking Of Your Health

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

The growth of group therapy during the past ten years has been tremendous. More and more persons who are unable, either because of time or expense, to undertake long intensive psychotherapy have become part of this program. I gather from many of my readers that there is confusion about it, its advantages and disadvantages.

There are now many schools of psychotherapy, each with its own group of enthusiasts and adherents. Some are identified with the teaching of Freud, others with Jung, Adler, Horney, and others. The approach varies with each, but all have a single purpose and goal, namely, to help a person gain a greater insight into his own emotions. In this way, he can adjust hmself and adapt to the stresses of modern day living.

Every person who has been in analysis will fight to the quick that "their school of analysis" is the only and most important approach to emotional problems. It is pointless to try to convince them that other schools have their own enthusiasts who are as fixed in their beliefs as they are.

I have always felt that people who are in psychotherapy learn the jargon and actually believe that they are the critical evaluators of other types of therapy. Persons who would not dream of talking about their diabetes, or urinary problem in a social group, far too often become involved in discussions about their psyche.

People who recovered from tuberculosis are not really experts in this disease. Similarly, those who are learning to handle their neuroses are not the ideal people to hand out psychological advice to others.

The fact that one can say obsession, guilt, hostility, frustration and aggression, does not make him a trained psychologist unless he is one. Even physicians who are psychologically oriented sidetrack complicated emotional problems and refer patients to specialists in the field.

Group therapy is one of the newer analytical approaches that reduce the tme and the expense for patients as they seek relief from their problems and anxiety. The advantages of group therapy are many. It is felt by some therapists that group sessions may even be more valuable to certain people than individual treatment.

This decision must depend on the judgment of a psychotherapist who evaluates each case individually.

There are many areas in the United States where individual psychotherapy is virtually impossible because so few analysts are available. Group therapy may make it possible for many more people to be helped rather than a select few.

Everywhere in the United States and Europe new group sensitivity programs have been set up, all with a new angle. Some of these groups are known as encounter groups, confrontation groups and training laboratories. Hundreds of people are attracted to these offshoots of the Esalen Institute in California.

Unfortunately, there is potential danger in such groups which, unlike Esalen, do not have trained psychiatrists or psychologists. To enter a group without excellent leadershp is to play games with dynamite. Before anyone gets involved, they should seek the stamp of approval of their own physician.

The Business World

By JOHN CUNNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) — Moral and social concerns will attain equal weight with financial considerations in the stock market of the future if the Council on Economic Priorities is successful.

Young and spirited, its members are confident they can influence the nation's corporations to be more concerned with human needs by providing factual information on their commitment to social, environmental and military issues.

This information, they feel, will enable socially concerned individuals and nonprofit groups such as churches, universities and foundations to exert influence through the power of their billions of dollars in stock holdings.

"Social accountability will be forthcoming if a concerned and informed public demands it," the council announces in its prospectus.

Many months in formation, the council has scheduled its first news conference for April 16 at its Washington headquarters.

The very idea is bound to bring snorts from some Wall Street oldtimers who hold to the belief that so long as a corporation makes money for its investors, the investors should not concern themselves further.

The council, however, has apparently won the friendship and allegiance of some young securities analysts, as well as educators, clergy and students. It welcomes an invitation to tell its story before the N.Y Society of Securities Analysts.

"The general public, students, investors and corporations need objective analyses of the effectiveness of the activities of specific corporations in meeting human needs," the council states.

Almost every conceivable type of information relating to a company's profit situation is available, the council's founders claim, and for the easily understood reason that investors decline to buy into poorly run firms.

It feels that many investors, including nonprofit groups that own more than $26 billion of stock on the N.Y. Stock Exchange, would be able to exert their influence if more information were available.

The council's first project, a listing of corporations which hold antipersonnel weapons contracts, is to be the subject of the first news conference. From then on it hopes to pour out a steady supply of factual data.

Among founders of the council are Alice Tepper, a young former financial analyst who developed a "peace portfolio" for a Boston management and research corporation. She is council director.

Chairman is Edward McCallan Swan Jr., 28, a cofounder of a computer-based college recruiting system called COMPU-JOB, and officer of a concern that has had plans to build hotels in the Virgin Islands.

An advisor to the council's research fellows is Edgar Lockwood, well-to-do lawyer who later became an Episcopal priest and who is now associated with St. Stephen and The Incarnation parishes in Washington, D.C.

The council has a staff of six but many volunteers. To help meet expenses, it hopes soon to publish a "Student's Guide to Corporations," a book that will report corporate stands on social issues.

WASHINGTON MEMO

By Congressman
CHALMERS P. WYLIE
15th District of Ohio

On a roll call vote of 312 to 58, the House passed and sent to the President a bill authorizing $24.8 billion in federal aid to elementary and secondary schools over the next three years.

One provision of this bill would increase funds for impacted area aid to school districts educating children by including pupils living in tax-exempt, low-income housing projects. Impacted area aid under the present system goes only to districts serving children of federal employees. This aid is essential to school districts such as Teays Valley, Hamilton Township, South Western, and Groveport, which are school districts with a large number of dependent military children in their schools.

This legislation also provides authorization for monies to purchase library books and textbooks, construction of educational centers as well as increasing aid to state and local educational agencies. Title 6 of this bill provides for education of the handicapped through state grants, centers, personnel training, research, and instructional media. A special section will allocate funds for bilingual education.

Adult education, which has been a huge success under the original elementary and secondary education act, received an authorization of 200 million dollars I believe adults who have the initiative to further their education should have the wholehearted support of our government. I supported and voted for this legislation, as I believe it will go far to eliminate some of the difficult problems facing our school administrators.

On Tuesday, April 7, the House passed and sent to the Senate a bill which would provide a temporary 15 per cent increase in railroad retirement monthly benefits up to a maximum increase of $50 per month for employees annuities and $25 per month for survivor annuities. For social security increase to a $10 monthly minimum increase for employees and $5 for survivors. The bill would provide a temporary change in the method of investment of funds in the railroad retirement account by requiring the Treasury Department to reinvest railroad retirement account funds and sell low-interest obligations held by accounts. The bill also authorizes an overall study of the railroad retirement system, and a report to Congress one year prior to 30 June 1972, the date of the expiration of the benefit increase and investment modification.

By a non-record vote the House passed a bill to change the National Gold and Silver Stamping Act of 1906 by providing a civil remedy for misrepresentation of the quality of articles made from gold and silver. In addition, this bill would enable any customer, competitor, jewelry trade association or subsequent purchaser of an article in violation of this Act to obtain relief.

The prospect of a nation-wide rail strike has once again loomed before the American people. This basic transportation component of our modern industrial society was about to be strangled, causing severe personal and economic hardships for the entire nation.

On December 4, 1969, representatives of the railroads and the shop craft unions agreed to a Memorandum of Understanding. The terms and conditions of employment set out in this document had been reached by the collective bargaining process. When the Memorandum was submitted to the union members, it was ratified by a majority of all members voting and by a majority of those voting in three of the four unions. The sheet-metal workers failed to ratify the Memorandum, which amounted to disapproval by all railroad workers.

Your elected representatives in Congress have the responsibility of preventing such a major transportation crisis. Thus, when faced with a nation-wide strike, the Congress passed legislation on March 5, 1970, prohibiting a strike or a lockout until April 11, 1970. Hoefully, the parties would use the interim to settle the dispute. Since no voluntary accord was forthcoming, Congress passed legislation requiring the parties to accept the terms of the Memorandum of Understanding until December 31, 1970.

In my opinion, the disruptive effect of a major rail strike would have placed an intolerable burden on the economy and the war effort. I, therefore, voted in favor of this law. The measure will prevent great national harm, and still give the railroads and union ample time to negotiate a voluntary collective bargaining agreement for the coming year.

Passed on Tuesday, April 7, was a bill to revise the organizational structure of the First Division of the National Railroad Adjustment Board by providing that both the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers and the United Transportation Union may have two representatives on the division, of whom only one may vote. The bill also provides that the carriers may have four representatives on the first division of whom only two may vote. This legislation was supported by the Nixon Administration, the National Mediation Board, the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, the United Transportation Union and all affected railroads.

New Scientific Target: Tiny Mites

By GEORGE S. DELL
Associated Press Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—You may not know it, but you have mites as bedfellows.

A few of the tiny, eight-legged creatures may even have ventured as far as your favorite overstuffed chair or the pillow on the sofa.

When mealtime comes around, you're it. Mites like munching human skin—the dead variety, scraps of which you leave in the threads of your bedding and the folds of your furniture.

You've probably never noticed your tiny buddy—after all, he's smaller than the period at the end of this sentence.

But mites can bug you. Ever catch yourself sneezing around the house for no good reason:

Researchers at Ohio State University think mites are the villains in more than 80 per cent of the house dust allergies in this country.

While mites were discovered in the late 1800's, the first hint they might be linked with allergies came in 1964 from two Dutch scientists who found them in house dust in Europe.

Ohio State's Acarology (mite and tick) laboratory has vacuumed up 64 dust samples from homes in nine states, and discovered mites almost everywhere.

Getting rid of them is the lab's next problem.

One idea—a super air conditioning system that would make air too dry for mites to live—was ruled out as too expensive. It would cost about ten times as much as present air conditioning.

More promising—and less expensive—are chemical "mitecides" that the lab is studying with aid of a $3,100 grant from the National Pest Control Association.

While mites are as easy to find as the shake of a pillow, collecting enough for research poses another problem.

The microscopic pests are more than worth their weight in gold as the university's laboratory discovered in December when the federal government awarded it a contract to supply 25 grams—less than an ounce—of them.

The governments price—$30,000, but that buys more than 2.5 million mites:

To meet the demand, the university is growing mites in tall glass cylinders, feeding them powdered dog food. A few of the skin eaters are getting a diet more to their liking—sweepings from electric razors.

To date the laboratory has supplied eight grams of mites—about $10,000 worth. It has eight months to supply the rest.

The mites are going to the federal government's Division of Biologic Standards Laboratory in Bethesda, Md., where U. S. Public Health Service researchers are testing drugs for allergy sufferers.

As they do, the rest of us may be casting an anxious glance under the covers for the little fellow we never knew was there.

Court, Congress Under Fire By Ohio Office Hopefuls

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Rep. Robert Taft Jr. says efforts should be made to reform the U.S. Supreme Court and Congress.

Taft, candidate for the Republican Senate nomination, told an Akron audience Monday he would favor a mandatory retirement age for members of both the court and Congress.

He said the rejection of Supreme Court nominee G. Harrold Carswell "points up the failure of the court and of the Congress to meet today's problems."

Speaking on a related vein, Democratic candidate John H. Glenn called Monday for elimination of the seniority system for selecting congressional committee chairmen.

"Congressional assignments should be based upon interests and expertise, rather than seniority," he said in Youngstown.

Glenn also proposed that committee chairmen be required to step down at a pre-determined age so "the legislative process can function more efficiently."

In the campaign for governor, Democrat John J. Gilligan criticized Republican hopefuls for refusing to admit that solving Ohio's crime problems will take massive state financial help.

He said in Cleveland that whatever little federal money Ohio gets is channeled into rural areas instead of into the major cities where it is needed.

Rep. Donald E. Lukens, contender for the Republican gubernatorial nod, announced Monday he is co-sponsoring a bill in Congress to establish a national college of ecological and environmental studies under the direction of the National Science Foundation.

The American Independent Party's cadidate for governor, Edwin Lawton, said in Springfield Monday Ohioans should write letters of support to Florida Gov. Claude Kirk, who is fighting the forced busing of school children.

Lawton said Kirk "is doing what every weak-livered elected official should be doing. He is standing up and defending the Constitutional rights of the silent majority against the arbitrary dictates of a radical liberal-oriented Supreme Court."

NEBRASKA GRANGE

Nebraska Grange met in regular session Tuesday evening in the Grange Hall. Deputy Master, Paul Dunkle, was present for annual inspection of the program.

Melvin Archer, Worthy Master, presided during the regular business session. Edward Crites reported on the state drill and ritualistic contest at which time Pickaway County Youth drill team placed fifth in the state competition. He also reported on the youth meeting and projects coming up in the next few weeks.

Action was taken to serve the Annual Walnut-Madison Alumni Banquet to be served May 2.

Mrs. Jean White, Worthy Lecturer, presented the program using "Spring" for her theme. Mrs. Chester Noecker read a poem, "Door to Spring" following by some humorous "Housekeeping Complaints" related by the Worthy Lecturer. Mrs. Pat Shannon entertained with a musical number "Queen of the House" accompanied by Mrs. David Dill. A skit "Thoughts of Romance" was presented by Mrs. Walter Hendershot, Arthur Sark, Roger Schneider and Melvin Archer.

The group sang "When You and I Were Young Maggie." Joseph Peters presented an article, "What Is Arbor Day" followed by a poem, "Trees" recited by Thelma Hines.

The worthy lecturer conducted a quiz on flowers. A vocal solo, "God's Greatest Gift" was rendered by Mrs. David Dill acompanied by Mrs. Joseph Peters. Refreshments were served in the dining room by Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Peters and family.

On April 21 degree inspection will be held with Dunkle as inspecting officer.

DiSalle Stays Out Of Court Race

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Former Gov. Michael V. DiSalle has withdrawn his name from consideration as a possible Ohio Supreme Court candidate, State Democratic Chairman Eugene O'Grady said Monday.

O'Grady said DiSalle is too busy with his law practice and other interests in Washington, where he now lives, to enter the race.

DiSalle was one of several people being considered by Democrats as write - in candidates in the May primary. Their names would be printed on the November ballot for two Supreme Court seats if they receive 15 per cent of the total party vote in the primary.

Cattlemen To Produce Beef If Government Stays Out

WASHINGTON (AP) — Cattlemen say they will produce plenty of beef for expanding consumer appetites, but only if prices remain high and the federal government keeps its nose out.

"We think, and we're confident, that the cattle industry is going to continue to produce beef at a rate which would allow a further increase in the per capita level of consumption," says C. W. McMillan, executive vice president of the American National Cattlemen's Association.

"But we need to be sure to have the economic incentive to do it," McMillan said during an interview with ANCA leaders. "Of course, this is reflected in prices."

William D. Farr, ANCA president, whose feedlots near Greeley, Colo., turn out nearly 20,000 tons of quality beef annually, said today's cattle prices—generally the highest in many years—would provide such incentive.

The ANCA remarks followed a congressional committee action last Thursday which turned back a report calling for more federal supervision of the cattle business.

The report, written by a subcommittee headed by Rep. John S. Monagan, D-Conn., urged Congress to set up a special commission to determine "the adequacy of the meat supply" at all marketing levels from ranches to supermarkets.

The report also said present U.S. meat import quota regulations were detrimental to consumers by restricting the amount of foreign beef allowed to come into this country.

Farr and other cattlemen opposed the recommendation and effectively lobbied last week against the report.

The Monagan report charged cattlemen have not kept pace with demand and that unless action is taken soon the nation could have a serious beef shortage by 1975.

Per capita beef consumption rose from about 60 pounds a year after World War II to 110 pounds last year, McMillan said, "and this wasn't done through any public utilities approach" or federal commission riding herd on the cattle business.

Rap Scanning Of Tax Forms

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican National Chairman Rogers Morton has urged presidential counsel Clark Mollenhoff to continue reviewing confidential federal income tax returns.

"I urge the President to press ahead with his scrutiny, through Mr. Mollenhoff or whatever aide he chooses," Morton said Sunday.

He made the statement after Democratic Chairman Lawrence F. O'Brien asserted the administration is violating federal law and Treasury regulations by turning the returns over to Mollenhoff.

O'Brien threatened to take the issue to court if the practice is not halted.

"The Democratic Party is unduly sensitive to investigations into possible wrongdoing on the part of government officials," Morton said. "On the contrary, the Republican Party welcomes the strictest kind of scrutiny of the actions of government officials regardless of party or branch or level of government."

To meet the demand, the university is growing mites in tall glass cylinders, feeding them powdered dog food. A few of the skin eaters are getting a diet more to their liking—sweepings from electric razors.

To date the laboratory has supplied eight grams of mites—about $10,000 worth. It has eight months to supply the rest.

The mites are going to the federal government's Division of Biologic Standards Laboratory in Bethesda, Md., where U. S. Public Health Service researchers are testing drugs for allergy sufferers.

As they do, the rest of us may be casting an anxious glance under the covers for the little fellow we never knew was there.

Court, Congress Under Fire By Ohio Office Hopefuls

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Rep. Robert Taft Jr. says efforts should be made to reform the U.S. Supreme Court and Congress.

Taft, candidate for the Republican Senate nomination, told an Akron audience Monday he would favor a mandatory retirement age for members of both the court and Congress.

He said the rejection of Supreme Court nominee G. Harrold Carswell "points up the failure of the court and of the Congress to meet today's problems."

Speaking on a related vein, Democratic candidate John H. Glenn called Monday for elimination of the seniority system for selecting congressional committee chairmen.

"Congressional assignments should be based upon interests and expertise, rather than seniority," he said in Youngstown.

Glenn also proposed that committee chairmen be required to step down at a pre-determined age so "the legislative process can function more efficiently."

In the campaign for governor, Democrat John J. Gilligan criticized Republican hopefuls for refusing to admit that solving Ohio's crime problems will take massive state financial help.

He said in Cleveland that whatever little federal money Ohio gets is channeled into rural areas instead of into the major cities where it is needed.

Rep. Donald E. Lukens, contender for the Republican gubernatorial nod, announced Monday he is co-sponsoring a bill in Congress to establish a national college of ecological and environmental studies under the direction of the National Science Foundation.

The American Independent Party's cadidate for governor, Edwin Lawton, said in Springfield Monday Ohioans should write letters of support to Florida Gov. Claude Kirk, who is fighting the forced busing of school children.

Lawton said Kirk "is doing what every weak-livered elected official should be doing. He is standing up and defending the Constitutional rights of the silent majority against the arbitrary dictates of a radical liberal-oriented Supreme Court."

Pickaway Grange

NEBRASKA GRANGE

Nebraska Grange met in regular session Tuesday evening in the Grange Hall. Deputy Master, Paul Dunkle, was present for annual inspection of the program.

Melvin Archer, Worthy Master, presided during the regular business session. Edward Crites reported on the state drill and ritualistic contest at which time Pickaway County Youth drill team placed fifth in the state competition. He also reported on the youth meeting and projects coming up in the next few weeks.

Action was taken to serve the Annual Walnut-Madison Alumni Banquet to be served May 2.

Mrs. Jean White, Worthy Lecturer, presented the program using "Spring" for her theme. Mrs. Chester Noecker read a poem, "Door to Spring" following by some humorous "Housekeeping Complaints" related by the Worthy Lecturer. Mrs. Pat Shannon entertained with a musical number "Queen of the House" accompanied by Mrs. David Dill. A skit "Thoughts of Romance" was presented by Mrs. Walter Hendershot, Arthur Sark, Roger Schneider and Melvin Archer.

The group sang "When You and I Were Young Maggie." Joseph Peters presented an article, "What Is Arbor Day" followed by a poem, "Trees" recited by Thelma Hines.

The worthy lecturer conducted a quiz on flowers. A vocal solo, "God's Greatest Gift" was rendered by Mrs. David Dill acompanied by Mrs. Joseph Peters. Refreshments were served in the dining room by Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Peters and family.

On April 21 degree inspection will be held with Dunkle as inspecting officer.

DiSalle Stays Out Of Court Race

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Former Gov. Michael V. DiSalle has withdrawn his name from consideration as a possible Ohio Supreme Court candidate, State Democratic Chairman Eugene O'Grady said Monday.

O'Grady said DiSalle is too busy with his law practice and other interests in Washington, where he now lives, to enter the race.

DiSalle was one of several people being considered by Democrats as write - in candidates in the May primary. Their names would be printed on the November ballot for two Supreme Court seats if they receive 15 per cent of the total party vote in the primary.

Cattlemen To Produce Beef If Government Stays Out

WASHINGTON (AP) — Cattlemen say they will produce plenty of beef for expanding consumer appetites, but only if prices remain high and the federal government keeps its nose out.

"We think, and we're confident, that the cattle industry is going to continue to produce beef at a rate which would allow a further increase in the per capita level of consumption," says C. W. McMillan, executive vice president of the American National Cattlemen's Association.

"But we need to be sure to have the economic incentive to do it," McMillan said during an interview with ANCA leaders. "Of course, this is reflected in prices."

William D. Farr, ANCA president, whose feedlots near Greeley, Colo., turn out nearly 20,000 tons of quality beef annually, said today's cattle prices—generally the highest in many years—would provide such incentive.

The ANCA remarks followed a congressional committee action last Thursday which turned back a report calling for more federal supervision of the cattle business.

The report, written by a subcommittee headed by Rep. John S. Monagan, D-Conn., urged Congress to set up a special commission to determine "the adequacy of the meat supply" at all marketing levels from ranches to supermarkets.

The report also said present U.S. meat import quota regulations were detrimental to consumers by restricting the amount of foreign beef allowed to come into this country.

Farr and other cattlemen opposed the recommendation and effectively lobbied last week against the report.

The Monagan report charged cattlemen have not kept pace with demand and that unless action is taken soon the nation could have a serious beef shortage by 1975.

Per capita beef consumption rose from about 60 pounds a year after World War II to 110 pounds last year, McMillan said, "and this wasn't done through any public utilities approach" or federal commission riding herd on the cattle business.

Rap Scanning Of Tax Forms

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican National Chairman Rogers Morton has urged presidential counsel Clark Mollenhoff to continue reviewing confidential federal income tax returns.

"I urge the President to press ahead with his scrutiny, through Mr. Mollenhoff or whatever aide he chooses," Morton said Sunday.

He made the statement after Democratic Chairman Lawrence F. O'Brien asserted the administration is violating federal law and Treasury regulations by turning the returns over to Mollenhoff.

O'Brien threatened to take the issue to court if the practice is not halted.

"The Democratic Party is unduly sensitive to investigations into possible wrongdoing on the part of government officials," Morton said. "On the contrary, the Republican Party welcomes the strictest kind of scrutiny of the actions of government officials regardless of party or branch or level of government."

DeLuce, Klein To Be Speakers

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Two top news figures — Herb Klein of the White House and Pulitzer Prize winner Dan DeLuce — will be the speakers at the Associated Press Society of Ohio spring meeting here May 2-3.

Klein has been President Nixon's chief spokesman since his days as vice president and is recognized as one of the most knowledgable members of the White House today.

DeLuce, assistant general manager of The Associated Press, is one of the few American newsmen permitted to visit North Vietnam in the last 15 years. He has just returned from Hanoi and shortly will visit South Vietnam.

'Problems In Education' DAR Meeting Program

Pickaway Plains Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution met recently at the Presbyterian Church, Circleville. Miss Florence Brown, regent, opened the meeting in ritualistic form assisted by the chaplain, Mrs. Henry Bartholomew, who led devotions. Miss Martha Hitler led the Pledge to the Flag of the United States of America. Mrs. Martin Cromley accompanied the singing of the National Anthem.

Miss Brown welcomed Mrs. Charles Bartholomew and Mrs. Glyn Hoover to their first meeting.

Mrs. Stanley Bowers read the President General's message. The name of Charlene Dresbach Woolever (Mrs. Ralph Woolever) was approved for membership by the Chapter.

Mrs. Clarence McAbee, corresponding secretary, read an invitation for the chapter from the Nathaniel Massie Chapter DAR, Chillicothe, to attend its 75th Anniversary celebration.

The program was presented by Mrs. Joseph Peters on national defense. Her subject was "Problems in Education." She said "education is among the first lines of defense." There is a problem in the financing of education from college level to the local schools. Drugs are a problem on campuses along with dissenting activities. However, the majority of students are there to study and learn. The conscientious instructor and students are doing their best and not letting the minority bother them any more than possible.

Resolutions from the State Conference DAR held in Dayton were presented to the chapter.

Miss Brown presided at the tea table. Hostesses for the meeting were Mrs. Stevenson, Mrs. Hoover, and Mrs. William Richards, assisted by Mrs. John Evans, Mrs. Kenneth Hannan, Mrs. Richard Leiss, Mrs. David McDonald, Miss Ruth Montelius, Miss Nancy Featheringham, Mrs. Paul Wendell Gearhart, Miss Jane Watt, Mrs. David Yates, Mrs. Paul Dean and Mrs. Lon Cromley.

Joy Slone Secretaries Week Chairman

Joy Slone will serve as chairman of the 1970 Secretaries Week for the Roundtown Chapter of The National Secretaries Association (International), it was announced by Sharon Walters, chapter president. Secretaries Week will be observed April 19 through 25 this year and Wednesday, April 22, has been set aside as Secretaries Day.

Members of the Secretaries Week local committee are Maxine Andregg, Velma Burtner, Jenny Russell, Joy Slone, Verlie Tucker, Sharon Walters and June West.

Secretaries Week is sponsored by The National Secretaries Assn. (International) which has 27,536 members throughout the world. For the 19th consecutive year, nationwide observance of Secretaries Week brings recognition to secretaries for the vital role they play in business, industry, education, government, the arts and the professions. It also serves to remind secretaries of their responsibilities to their employers and to their profession.

The theme for Secretaries Week is "Better Secretaries Mean Better Business."

On the local level this is the first Secretaries Week observance and over one hundred invitations have been sent to secretaries throughout Pickaway and Ross Counties.

Logan Elm Garden Club Holds Meeting

Mrs. Judson Beougher presided at the April meeting of the Logan Elm Garden Club when it met recently in the home of Mrs. P. T. Harmount.

Members answered roll call by telling what they had set out or planted in their gardens.

Mrs. Lawrence McKenzie reported that the plans for the Spring Meeting of Pickaway County Council of Garden Clubs have been completed and the show schedules are being printed. Members voted to grow plants to be sold at the meeting to be held June 12 in the Derby United Methodist Church.

Mrs. Harmount read an article on insecticides and the harm they do to wild life.

Mrs. Corilla Pontious displayed a basket of tulips made from plastic egg cartons. She demonstrated the technique of making the tulips.

'Problems In Education' DAR Meeting Program

Pickaway Plains Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution met recently at the Presbyterian Church, Circleville. Miss Florence Brown, regent, opened the meeting in ritualistic form assisted by the chaplain, Mrs. Henry Bartholomew, who led devotions. Miss Martha Hitler led the Pledge to the Flag of the United States of America. Mrs. Martin Cromley accompanied the singing of the National Anthem.

Miss Brown welcomed Mrs. Charles Bartholomew and Mrs. Glyn Hoover to their first meeting.

Mrs. Stanley Bowers read the President General's message. The name of Charlene Dresbach Woolever (Mrs. Ralph Woolever) was approved for membership by the Chapter.

Mrs. Clarence McAbee, corresponding secretary, read an invitation for the chapter from the Nathaniel Massie Chapter DAR, Chillicothe, to attend its 75th Anniversary celebration.

The program was presented by Mrs. Joseph Peters on national defense. Her subject was "Problems in Education." She said "education is among the first lines of defense." There is a problem in the financing of education from college level to the local schools. Drugs are a problem on campuses along with dissenting activities. However, the majority of students are there to study and learn. The conscientious instructor and students are doing their best and not letting the minority bother them any more than possible.

Resolutions from the State Conference DAR held in Dayton were presented to the chapter.

Miss Brown presided at the tea table. Hostesses for the meeting were Mrs. Stevenson, Mrs. Hoover, and Mrs. William Richards, assisted by Mrs. John Evans, Mrs. Kenneth Hannan, Mrs. Richard Leiss, Mrs. David McDonald, Miss Ruth Montelius, Miss Nancy Featheringham, Mrs. Paul Wendell Gearhart, Miss Jane Watt, Mrs. David Yates, Mrs. Paul Dean and Mrs. Lon Cromley.

The next meeting will be a luncheon on April 28, at 12:30 p.m. at the L-K Restaurant, Circleville.

Engagement Is Announced

Mr. and Mrs. Clark Neff Jr., Route 4, Martingsburg, W. Va., former residents of Ashville, announce the engagement of their daughter, Gail Ann, to Yancy Waugh Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Yancy Waugh Sr. of Clarksburg, W. Va.

The bride-elect is a 1969 graduate of Owensboro High School, Owensburg, Ky., and a recent graduate of West Virginia College of Beauty Culture.

Mr. Waugh, a graduate of Clarksburg High School and Fairmont State College, is an electronic engineer for the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Co.

An open church ceremony will take place 3 p.m. May 9 at St. John's Lutheran Church, Martinsburg, W. Va.

Community Circle Club Will Meet

Community Circle Homemakers Extension Club will meet 10:30 a.m. Thursday in the home of Mrs. Clark McFarland, Route 3. Members are reminded to bring scissors, needles and their favorite color of thread.

Questions Taxpayers Ask

Q — What's the deadline for sending in my return?

Q — Can I use the same check to pay my 1970 estimated installment and my final balance for 1969?

A — It is advisable to write separate checks or money orders since the payments cover two different tax years.

Tax returns for different years are processed separately and it is possible for a single payment covering two taxes to be credited to just one tax year. This could lead to a refund on one return and a bill for additional tax on the other.

When you make your payment, write what it is for and your Social Security number on each check or money order so that it can be properly credited to your account.

Q — I don't see any place on the new 1040 to deduct the $600 I get for each of my exemptions. Where do I take this deduction?

A — Allowances for your exemptions are taken on Line 4, Schedule T, which is in the Form 1040 tax forms package. If you use the Tax Tables to figure your tax, the allowance for exemptions is provided in the tables.

Q — Do I have to pay tax on my GI insurance dividends?

A — No, these dividends are not taxable.

Q — I never had to send in an estimated tax form before, but I got one in the mail this year. Do I have to file it?

A — Generally, you should file an estimated tax return if you do not expect the amount withheld from your wages to come within $40 of the income tax you expet to owe for 1970. Details are in the estimated tax form instructions.

The estimated tax system is meant to help keep all taxpayers on a pay-as-you-go basis. If a taxpayer's income changes during the year, he can make an adjustment in his next installment payment to take care of it.

Q — Are supplementary Medicare premiums deductible?

A — Premiums for health insurance under Medicare are deductible if you itemize expenses on Schedule A. Note that one-half of your cost for medical insurance up to $150 is deductible without regard to the 3 per cent limitation on medical expenses. The remainder is subject to the 3 per cent rule.

Q — I can't pay all I owe on my 1969 income tax return. Can I pay in installments?

Q — I am still paying my daughter's college expenses even though she married last fall. Can I still claim her as a dependent?

A — If she does not file a joint return with her husband and the other dependency tests are met, you may claim an exemption for her. These tests are explained on Page B-2 in the 1040 tax package.

Q — When do you have to send in Schedule T with your tax return?

A — Most taxpayers will use Schedule T only as a worksheet and need not attach it to their Form 1040. Schedule T should be attached if you claim a retirement income credit, investment credit or foreign tax credit. Anyone subject to self-employment tax or tax from reomputing prior — year investment credit must also send in Schedule T.

Q — Can I deduct anything for paying someone to fill out my tax return?

A — Yes, this is deductible as a miscellaneous expense on Schedule A. Remember that fees paid to someone this year for preparing a 1969 return cannot be deducted until you file your 1970 return.

To avoid errors in a return prepared by someone else, check it over for accuracy and make sure that the blue address label is on the form you file.

Q — Where do I send my return? I can't find my envelope.

A — The address of the IRS service center for your area is listed on the back of the first copy of Form 1040 in your tax package.

Q — How can I use the pre-addressed label if I've made a mistake on the form it is on?

A — Lift the top label off the form on which you made the mistake and place it on the one you are filing. The two-part label has been made so that the top one lifts off easily but sticks tightly when placed on another form.

Q — What is the maximum Social Security tax for 1969? I think I may have paid too much by holding down two jobs.

A — The maximum Social Security tax for 1969 is $374.40. If more than that was withheld from your pay because you had more than one employer, you may claim credit for the difference on Line 20, Form 1040.

Q — I retired early. Do I have to wait until I'm 65 to claim the retirement income credit?

A — If you have a pension or annuity established by the Federal government, or state, county, city or local governments, you do not have to wait until you are 65 to claim the retirement income credit. Details on the retirement income credit may be found in the 1040 tax pakage..

Green Beret Says Troops Use Drugs

BROOKLINE, Mass. (AP) — Former Green Beret Col. Robert Rheault says American troops in Vietnam are using marijuana and "any commander who says he doesn't have a drug problem has his head in the sand."

Rheault, the former commander of the U.S. Special Forces in Vietnam, and seven other Green Berets were charged last July with the murder of a suspected Vietnamese double agent. The Army later dropped the charges. Rheault retired from the Army in October.

Breaking a five-month silence Sunday in an address at a Knights of Columbus meeting, Rheault said that "American atrocities do happen."

"Some people think the Japanese committed atrocities, that the Germans committed atrocities, that the Russians committed atrocities, but that Americans don't commit atrocities" he said. "Well, this just isn't so."

"Some of these troops are young, scared and inexperienced," he said. "Sometimes they get out of hand. They dehumanize the enemy. They forget the enemy is a human being."

Of his own case, Rheault said there is 'nothing I would rather tell you than the true story of Nha Trang. But I can't do that. If I did, I would, as they say, 'blow the cover' of many clandestine operations in that area."

He said, however, that he did "nothing that I am ashamed of as a commander, as a soldier, or as a man."

By PERRY SMITH
Associated Press Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — John Joyce Gilligan, last year's darling of the Democrat party, needs a clear-cut victory in 1970 to keep the love affair going.

Gilligan, a former Cincinnati Congressman, gained national stature in 1968 when he defeated veteran incumbent Sen. Frank J. Lausche in a primary battle.

He was the hero of the hour. Democratic party regulars, especially organized labor, had long been disenchanted with the conservative Lausche.

His extensive advertising campaign for the Senate made him well known. Although he lost the general election, he's still remembered as "Jack the Giant Killer" for the Lausche upset.

Labor, the house that built Jack, still likes its onetime hero but is often embarassed by his fast lip.

The dues-paying factory worker, who generally frowns upon long-haired campus demonstrators, has raised critical eyebrows over some of Gilligan's off-the-cuff remarks.

He once criticized the law under which the Chicago Seven demonstrators were convicted. Although he later said he opposed civil violence long before it became fashionable, his opponents tend to remember him as soft on law and order.

"He's always making remarks he doesn't have to make," lamented a friend. "I can't keep from throwing in an extemperaneous comment now and then," Gilligan smiles.

The 49-year-old insurance man talks about the state of public education in Ohio and the need to do more for local government.

"Virtually every unit of local government is teetering on the brink of bankruptcy," Gilligan contends. "Many of our public service institutions are in a state of collapse."

"The feeling is everywhere," he adds. "We need a change. We need to sweep away all of the slogans and the double-dealing of the oldtime politics and politicians"

Gilligan served six terms on the Cincinnati council from 1953 to 1964, the year he was elected to the U.S. House of Representatives. He was defeated two years later by Republican Robert Taft Jr.

Embarrassing to Gilligan in his loss last year was the fact that more than half of Saxbe's winning margin of 115,000 votes came out of Hamilton County.

Gilligan taught literature at Xavier University and was associated with the brothers in Gilligan Funeral Homes until he entered the insurance business.

In 1968, at Chicago, he engineered the minority plank in the Democratic platform that criticized United States involvement in the Vietnam War.

He is married and the father of two sons and two daughters. One son is a teacher in Boston. A daughter and a son are in college and another daughter is in high school.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

View Bad With 'Mod' Shoes

DEAR ABBY: I am interested in women's shoes because they are part of the view whenever I look at a woman's legs, which is at every possible opportunity.

I can't decide whether these "mod" shoes for women look like prosthetic devices for clubfeet, or torture boxes made of scraps from a harness factory. It is even impossible to tell which way a lady is facing from looking at her shoes.

I ask compassionate people everywhere to help stamp out this conspiracy to make a woman's foot look like an obscene growth on the earthly end of a heavenly object.

FRANK IN SAN DIEGO

DEAR ABBY: I wrote to the National Shoe Retailers association and told them what I thought of their squaretoed, clunky, masculine looking shoes that seem to be the only things you can buy anymore.

I told them I have been wearing TENNIS SHOES that were made in Japan because they were actually better looking and more comfortable than what they are showing here.

JUDY IN FOUNTAIN VALLEY, CAL.

DEAR ABBY: I have specialized in bone surgery for nearly half a century. The ill health and suffering due to women's ill-chosen foot gear is appalling. Incidentally, I dare say that treating ailments caused by improper shoeing puts more money into the pockets of medical specialists than is spent for all the deforming shoes sold.

The normal shape and function of the human foot requires no raise of the heel. Every fraction of an inch that a shoe raises the wearer's heel above the level of his toe, causes him to increase the curvature of his spine necessary to stand upright.

Sketchily tracing the history of the high heel: A "dumpy" queen had high-heeled foot gear made to attain a more "imposing" stature. The prostitutes of Paris latched onto the idea, and the so-called "civilized" women of the world promptly fell for it.

Years ago, when I met the owner of one of the largest shoe stores in San Francisco, I needled him about the atrocious crippling shoes he sold to women. He said, "Doctor, you don't know the half of it! I once stocked my store heavily with the most beautiful and sensible women's shoes we could buy and we couldn't GIVE them away!

"I sent my daughters to school sensibly shod. At high school age they asked for 'shoes like all the other girls are wearing.' I tried to convince them that they would pay a high price in crippled feet and backaches. They didn't care. They chose to take the consequences rather than be 'different'."

If women must distort and bedevil themselves, why don't they select less damaging devices? Say, nose rings? They would be far less harmful, and no more disgusting to those who realize the full significance of deforming footwear.

Very truly yours,
E. W. CLEARY, M. D. (Retired)

More Jobs Cut Due To Truck Strike

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — More than 6,000 workers have been laid off in Greater Cleveland because of a wildcat strike of Teamsters Union members, and more layoffs are expected as the two-week-old strike continues.

Emden C. Schulze, area manager for the Ohio State Employment Service (OSES), said 2,500 Clevelanders filed for unemployment compensation because of the strike Monday—the biggest surge of filings since the walkout began.

Most of the 6,000 layoffs reported so far have been from small firms, Schulze said, adding that the larger firms might begin cutting back any day.

The figures represent only persons applying for compensation due to secondary layoff causes. Not included are those idled because of parts shortages, Schulze said.

An estimated 6,000 of the 8,000 members of Teamsters Local 407 are on strike in the Cleveland area.

With thousands more truckers off the job in other parts of Ohio, factory layoffs were reported in several areas.

Teamsters Union officials say their efforts to get the drivers back to work have gone unheeded. The drivers are protesting a tentative national contract agreement providing a $1.10 hourly pay increase over three years. Drivers locally have demanded $2 an hour for the same period.

Measles Vaccine Available At County Office

Pickaway County Board of Health has received a small amount of three-day measles vaccine in addition to vaccine for old-fashioned measles. It is available to county children, particularly those unable to receive it from a private physician.

The vaccine is administered by county health Nurse Helen Pickens in the health office of the county courthouse. She suggests you call the office, 474-3901, for an appointment to receive the immunization while the supply lasts.

Sheriff Looking For Robin Hood

In fact, he's looking for five, the sheriff's office announced today, any five American citizens, male or female, bearing the name of England's legendary bandit who robbed the rich to help the poor.

The first five who send their birth certificates and 100-word letters on why they would like to visit Robin's old stamping grounds will be invited to the Nottingham Festival starting July 11, Sheriff Leonard Whitehouse said.

Importing the American Robins is a promotion gimmick to help launch Britain's newest festival of drama, music and assorted culture. Since it is being held in Robin Hood territory, the festival will also include an international archery tournament.

Make your own WATER HARDNESS TEST

by Betty Lindsay

Is the water in your home all that you'd like it to be? Find out the approximate hardness. It's easy.

1. Take two fairly large glass jars of the same size.
2. Fill one halfway with rain water, clean melted snow or distilled water.
3. Fill the other halfway with tap water.
4. Add to each jar a teaspoonful of shampoo solution or detergent.
5. Shake both jars.

■ Now here's how you judge: If the lather in the tap water is not equal, add a second teaspoonful of detergent and stir or shake. If the lather now is equal to the second jar your tap water is twice as hard as the naturally soft water. If it takes 3 spoonfuls, the water is three times as hard.

■ This simple test shows how much detergent you waste.

■ For expert advice on water softeners, see us. We can make your living a lot softer, a lot nicer.

BIG IN APRIL

There's no frantic scramble to locate your deductions if you pay by check. Carefully listed in your check record is a complete list of all expenses. This can save you big money in figuring your income tax.

If you don't pay by check you would be wise to do so before another week goes by.

MEMBER F.D.I.C.

Questions Taxpayers Ask

Q — What's the deadline for sending in my return?

Q — Can I use the same check to pay my 1970 estimated installment and my final balance for 1969?

A — It is advisable to write separate checks or money orders since the payments cover two different tax years.

Tax returns for different years are processed separately and it is possible for a single payment covering two taxes to be credited to just one tax year. This could lead to a refund on one return and a bill for additional tax on the other.

When you make your payment, write what it is for and your Social Security number on each check or money order so that it can be properly credited to your account.

Q — I don't see any place on the new 1040 to deduct the $600 I get for each of my exemptions. Where do I take this deduction?

A — Allowances for your exemptions are taken on Line 4, Schedule T, which is in the Form 1040 tax forms package. If you use the Tax Tables to figure your tax, the allowance for exemptions is provided in the tables.

Q — Do I have to pay tax on my GI insurance dividends?

A — No, these dividends are not taxable.

Q — I never had to send in an estimated tax form before, but I got one in the mail this year. Do I have to file it?

A — Generally, you should file an estimated tax return if you do not expect the amount withheld from your wages to come within $40 of the income tax you expet to owe for 1970. Details are in the estimated tax form instructions.

The estimated tax system is meant to help keep all taxpayers on a pay-as-you-go basis. If a taxpayer's income changes during the year, he can make an adjustment in his next installment payment to take care of it.

Q — Are supplementary Medicare premiums deductible?

A — Premiums for health insurance under Medicare are deductible if you itemize expenses on Schedule A. Note that one-half of your cost for medical insurance up to $150 is deductible without regard to the 3 per cent limitation on medical expenses. The remainder is subject to the 3 per cent rule.

Q — I can't pay all I owe on my 1969 income tax return. Can I pay in installments?

Q — I am still paying my daughter's college expenses even though she married last fall. Can I still claim her as a dependent?

A — If she does not file a joint return with her husband and the other dependency tests are met, you may claim an exemption for her. These tests are explained on Page B-2 in the 1040 tax package.

Q — When do you have to send in Schedule T with your tax return?

A — Most taxpayers will use Schedule T only as a worksheet and need not attach it to their Form 1040. Schedule T should be attached if you claim a retirement income credit, investment credit or foreign tax credit. Anyone subject to self-employment tax or tax from reomputing prior — year investment credit must also send in Schedule T.

Q — Can I deduct anything for paying someone to fill out my tax return?

A — Yes, this is deductible as a miscellaneous expense on Schedule A. Remember that fees paid to someone this year for preparing a 1969 return cannot be deducted until you file your 1970 return.

To avoid errors in a return prepared by someone else, check it over for accuracy and make sure that the blue address label is on the form you file.

Q — Where do I send my return? I can't find my envelope.

A — The address of the IRS service center for your area is listed on the back of the first copy of Form 1040 in your tax package.

Q — How can I use the preaddressed label if I've made a mistake on the form it is on?

A — Lift the top label off the form on which you made the mistake and place it on the one you are filing. The two-part label has been made so that the top one lifts off easily but sticks tightly when placed on another form.

Q — What is the maximum Social Security tax for 1969? I think I may have paid too much by holding down two jobs.

A — The maximum Social Security tax for 1969 is $374.40. If more than that was withheld from your pay because you had more than one employer, you may claim credit for the difference on Line 20, Form 1040.

Q — I retired early. Do I have to wait until I'm 65 to claim the retirement income credit?

A — If you have a pension or annuity established by the Federal government, or state, county, city or local governments, you do not have to wait until you are 65 to claim the retirement income credit. Details on the retirement income credit may be found in the 1040 tax pakage..

Green Beret Says Troops Use Drugs

BROOKLINE, Mass. (AP) — Former Green Beret Col. Robert Rheault says American troops in Vietnam are using marijuana and "any commander who says he doesn't have a drug problem has his head in the sand."

Rheault, the former commander of the U.S. Special Forces in Vietnam, and seven other Green Berets were charged last July with the murder of a suspected Vietnamese double agent. The Army later dropped the charges. Rheault retired from the Army in October.

Breaking a five-month silence Sunday in an address at a Knights of Columbus meeting, Rheault said that "American atrocities do happen."

"Some people think the Japanese committed atrocities, that the Germans committed atrocities, that the Russians committed atrocities, but that Americans don't commit atrocities" he said. "Well, this just isn't so."

"Some of these troops are young, scared and inexperienced," he said. "Sometimes they get out of hand. They dehumanize the enemy. They forget the enemy is a human being."

Of his own case, Rheault said there is 'nothing I would rather tell you than the true story of Nha Trang. But I can't do that. If I did, I would, as they say, 'blow the cover' of many clandestine operations in that area."

He said, however, that he did "nothing that I am ashamed of as a commander, as a soldier, or as a man."

By PERRY SMITH
Associated Press Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — John Joyce Gilligan, last year's darling of the Democrat party, needs a clear-cut victory in 1970 to keep the love affair going.

Gilligan, a former Cincinnati Congressman, gained national stature in 1968 when he defeated veteran incumbent Sen. Frank J. Lausche in a primary battle.

He was the hero of the hour. Democratic party regulars, especially organized labor, had long been disenchanted with the conservative Lausche.

His extensive advertising campaign for the Senate made him well known. Although he lost the general election, he's still remembered as "Jack the Giant Killer" for the Lausche upset.

Labor, the house that built Jack, still likes its onetime hero but is often embarassed by his fast lip.

The dues-paying factory worker, who generally frowns upon long-haired campus demonstrators, has raised critical eyebrows over some of Gilligan's off-the-cuff remarks.

He once criticized the law under which the Chicago Seven demonstrators were convicted. Although he later said he opposed civil violence long before it became fashionable, his opponents tend to remember him as soft on law and order.

"He's always making remarks he doesn't have to make," lamented a friend. "I can't keep from throwing in an extemperaneous comment now and then," Gilligan smiles.

The 49-year-old insurance man talks about the state of public education in Ohio and the need to do more for local government.

"Virtually every unit of local government is teetering on the brink of bankruptcy," Gilligan contends. "Many of our public service institutions are in a state of collapse."

"The feeling is everywhere," he adds. "We need a change. We need to sweep away all of the slogans and the double-dealing of the oldtime politics and politicians"

Gilligan served six terms on the Cincinnati council from 1953 to 1964, the year he was elected to the U.S. House of Representatives. He was defeated two years later by Republican Robert Taft Jr.

Embarrassing to Gilligan in his loss last year was the fact that more than half of Saxbe's winning margin of 115,000 votes came out of Hamilton County.

Gilligan taught literature at Xavier University and was associated with the brothers in Gilligan Funeral Homes until he entered the insurance business.

In 1968, at Chicago, he engineered the minority plank in the Democratic platform that criticized United States involvement in the Vietnam War.

He is married and the father of two sons and two daughters. One son is a teacher in Boston. A daughter and a son are in college and another daughter is in high school.

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

View Bad With 'Mod' Shoes

DEAR ABBY: I am interested in women's shoes because they are part of the view whenever I look at a woman's legs, which is at every possible opportunity.

I can't decide whether these "mod" shoes for women look like prosthetic devices for clubfeet, or torture boxes made of scraps from a harness factory. It is even impossible to tell which way a lady is facing from looking at her shoes.

I ask compassionate people everywhere to help stamp out this conspiracy to make a woman's foot look like an obscene growth on the earthly end of a heavenly object.

FRANK IN SAN DIEGO

DEAR ABBY: I wrote to the National Shoe Retailers association and told them what I thought of their squaretoed, clunky, masculine looking shoes that seem to be the only things you can buy anymore.

I told them I have been wearing TENNIS SHOES that were made in Japan because they were actually better looking and more comfortable than what they are showing here.

JUDY IN FOUNTAIN VALLEY, CAL.

DEAR ABBY: I have specialized in bone surgery for nearly half a century. The ill health and suffering due to women's ill-chosen foot gear is appalling. Incidentally, I dare say that treating ailments caused by improper shoeing puts more money into the pockets of medical specialists than is spent for all the deforming shoes sold.

The normal shape and function of the human foot requires no raise of the heel. Every fraction of an inch that a shoe raises the wearer's heel above the level of his toe, causes him to increase the curvature of his spine necessary to stand upright.

Sketchily tracing the history of the high heel: A "dumpy" queen had high-heeled foot gear made to attain a more "imposing" stature. The prostitutes of Paris latched onto the idea, and the so-called "civilized" women of the world promptly fell for it.

Years ago, when I met the owner of one of the largest shoe stores in San Francisco, I needled him about the atrocious crippling shoes he sold to women. He said, "Doctor, you don't know the half of it! I once stocked my store heavily with the most beautiful and sensible women's shoes we could buy and we couldn't GIVE them away!

"I sent my daughters to school sensibly shod. At high school age they asked for 'shoes like all the other girls are wearing.' I tried to convince them that they would pay a high price in crippled feet and backaches. They didn't care. They chose to take the consequences rather than be 'different'."

If women must distort and bedevil themselves, why don't they select less damaging devices? Say, nose rings? They would be far less harmful, and no more disgusting to those who realize the full significance of deforming footwear.

Very truly yours,
E. W. CLEARY, M. D. (Retired)

More Jobs Cut Due To Truck Strike

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — More than 6,000 workers have been laid off in Greater Cleveland because of a wildcat strike of Teamsters Union members, and more layoffs are expected as the two-week-old strike continues.

Emden C. Schulze, area manager for the Ohio State Employment Service (OSES), said 2,500 Clevelanders filed for unemployment compensation because of the strike Monday— the biggest surge of filings since the walkout began.

Most of the 6,000 layoffs reported so far have been from small firms, Schulze said, adding that the larger firms might begin cutting back any day.

The figures represent only persons applying for compensation due to secondary layoff causes. Not included are those idled because of parts shortages, Schulze said.

An estimated 6,000 of the 8,000 members of Teamsters Local 407 are on strike in the Cleveland area.

With thousands more truckers off the job in other parts of Ohio, factory layoffs were reported in several areas.

Teamsters Union officials say their efforts to get the drivers back to work have gone unheeded. The drivers are protesting a tentative national contract agreement providing a $1.10 hourly pay increase over three years. Drivers locally have demanded $2 an hour for the same period.

Make your own WATER HARDNESS TEST

by Betty Lindsay

Is the water in your home all that you'd like it to be? Find out the approximate hardness. It's easy.

1. Take two fairly large glass jars of the same size.
2. Fill one halfway with rain water, clean melted snow or distilled water.
3. Fill the other halfway with tap water.
4. Add to each jar a teaspoonful of shampoo solution or detergent.
5. Shake both jars.

■ Now here's how you judge: If the lather in the tap water is not equal, add a second teaspoonful of detergent and stir or shake. If the lather now is equal to the second jar your tap water is twice as hard as the naturally soft water. If it takes 3 spoonfuls, the water is three times as hard.

■ This simple test shows how much detergent you waste.

Measles Vaccine Available At County Office

Pickaway County Board of Health has received a small amount of three-day measles vaccine in addition to vaccine for old-fashioned measles. It is available to county children, particularly those unable to receive it from a private physician.

The vaccine is administered by county health Nurse Helen Pickens in the health office of the county courthouse. She suggests you call the office, 474-3901, for an appointment to receive the immunization while the supply lasts.

Sheriff Looking For Robin Hood

In fact, he's looking for five, the sheriff's office announced today, any five American citizens, male or female, bearing the name of England's legendary bandit who robbed the rich to help the poor.

The first five who send their birth certificates and 100-word letters on why they would like to visit Robin's old stamping grounds will be invited to the Nottingham Festival starting July 11, Sheriff Leonard Whitehouse said.

Importing the American Robins is a promotion gimmick to help launch Britain's newest festival of drama, music and assorted culture. Since it is being held in Robin Hood territory, the festival will also include an international archery tournament.

Bill Casper Wins Masters Playoff

AUGUSTA, GA. (AP) — Bill Casper tipped all his listeners. It was 50 minutes before the first Monday shot rang out Augusta National club's mammoth pines. The other side hadn't even put on its spiked shoes.

"Gene Littler played better golf at age 19 than he does now," said Casper, the game's onetime fat boy. "Me? I get better with age."

Four holes after the two-man war began, Casper has proved his point. It was all but over. Buffalo Bill was ahead by four strokes and all Littler did on the back nine was make it a bearable afternoon for late-tuning television customers.

Casper shot 69 and won his first Masters. He wore the famed coat of green. Littler had a 74 and wore short sleeves.

"Winning the U.S. Open is still the No. 1 accomplishment for me," admitted Casper, knowing well that proud, green-jacketed Augusta National members listened. "But this is a close second."

Casper won the Opens of 1959 and 1966, beating Arnold Palmer in a come-from-behind playoff in the latter. He has never won the PGA championship or the British Open, but has joined Palmer and Jack Nicklaus as golf's only golfing millionaire.

"A grand slam today is impossible--or next to it," said Casper. "It was something 20 or 30 years ago, but there are three times as many fine golfers now. The odds against it are astounding."

Casper will try anyway. He announced plans to play in the remainder of the Big Four, the U.S. and British Opens and the PGA.

Casper was a relaxed champion, looking as if he felt he belonged in that green coat--even though it was three sizes too big.

"They must have measured it for me when I weighed 240," he said. "Hey, fellows, I'm skinnier now." Skinnier, yes, but the San Diego neighbor of Littler appears to have added back about 15 of the some 60 pounds he dropped on his famed diet a few years ago.

Despite playing Monday under sultry, 82-degree skies, Casper marched around the slopes of Augusta National in a thick sweater. "I like to keep my muscles warm," he said. "You won't catch me in short sleeves too often. I like being warm."

Casper said he seldom played defensive golf, the kind that may have cost him the 1969 Masters crown. He led for 54 holes but faded with a front nine 40 on Sunday and watched 6-foot-6 George Archer stride by to the title.

Circleville Nine Downs Trace For Third Win, 6-2

Combining the four hit pitching of Bryce Brown and a big fifth inning the Circleville Tigers beat Miami Trace, 6-2, Monday on the Tiger diamond.

Brown scattered four hits and struck out four as he went all the way to gain his second win of the season without a loss.

Circleville added a solid defense to bolster the pitching and took advantage of six Panther errors to gain its third victory of the year.

Trace jumped out in front in the second inning but Circleville evened it up in the third with a run. Doyle Kiser and Mike Fuller had singles in the inning and set up the Tiger run.

* * *

MIAMI took a 2-1 lead in the fifth on a stolen base by Jones and a pop fly double by Bihl.

It was a short lived lead as Circleville came up with the big inning in the fifth. Billy Thomas and Harold Smith both had big doubles in the uprising and some sloppy play in the field aided the Tiger cause.

Brown faced only six men in the last two innings and was aided by another fine job behind the plate by Billy Thomas. One man reached base on a Tiger miscue but was cut down attempting to pilfer second on a fine throw by Thomas.

Assistant Coach John Lawhorn has been working with the Tiger infield and it is paying off as defense has been getting better each outing.

ABA Club Owners Study Possible Merger With NBA

The owners were to hear a report concerning merger with the National Basketball Association.

The announcement of the merger committee report was made Monday by Commissioner Jack Dolph following a meeting of the owners.

At that meeting it was decided that the ABA would take over the Miami Floridians for the remainder of the season.

"The ABA has taken over the operation of Miami," Dolph said at a news conference. "We will attempt to restructure the ownership. Vince Murphy remains as general manager, acting for the league for the remainder of the season."

Dolph said the ABA wants to keep Miami as a base of operations and is considering the possibility of making it a regional representative such as the Carolina Cougars.

The commissioner also said the league is negotiating with CBS for telecasts of its playoffs but that the first round, which opens Friday, would not be televised because of CBS committments.

In another development Monday, Sam Shulman, a member of the NBA's merger committee, said in Los Angeles he was confident the conflict between Baltimore and Washington can be overcome. A stumbling block to merger has been the geographic closeness of the ABA Washington franchise and the NBA Baltimore club.

Shulman had said Saturday agreement on merger was close and one of the agreements was moving the Washington franchise. However, Washington owner Earl Foreman, not present at Monday's meeting here, said no agreement had been reached on moving Washington.

Foreman said Monday, "I understand his position of not wanting the fact made public that he might even be considering moving."

However, Shulman admitted there was a possibilty a merger agreement might not include moving the Washington franchise. He indicated he felt the move was a necessity in reaching a merger agreement.

Bucs Beat Indiana For 120-110 Win

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The New Orleans Buccaneers, although settled in last place in the Western Division of the American Basketball Association, came to life again Monday night with a 120-110 victory over Eastern Division champion Indiana.

Ron Frantz scored 24 points to pace the Bucs after four straight losses on the road. The victory gave the Bucs a 41-42 season mark, which they hope to even out in Wednesday night's finale against Dallas, to be played in New Orleans.

Indiana led in three - point field goals 8-6. The total of 14 was a home court record.

New Orleans was in front 33-22 at the end of the first quarter and 61-50 at halftime. Indiana took a one-point lead three times in the third period, but the Bucs moved in front to stay at 87-85.

Jackie Moreland, a veteran Buccaneer forward, announced he would retire after the game with Dallas. The Bucs will honor Moreland at halftime.

Jimmy Jones, the Bucs' all-star guard, sat out the game because of his ailing knee. He plans to undergo surgery on a torn cartilage Friday.

Ken Short Blasts Homer For LE In Losing Cause

Logan Elm fell before the undefeated baseball nine of Paint Valley, 6-2, Monday on the Paint Valley field.

The Braves outhit the lads from the Valley but three misplays in the field cost Logan Elm runs.

Wertie Teets went all the way for the Braves holding the opposition to five hits while his teammates were getting eight hits off the Bearcats' Keith Shoemaker.

Shoemaker was tough in the clutch striking out nine Braves and refusing to give up any free passes.

THE Bearcats scored one run in the second, three in the third and two in the fifth.

All the Logan Elm runs came in the fourth inning when Gary Francis singled and Ken Short blasted a tremendous home run over the left centerfield fence.

In addition to Short's homer Francis had two singles, Bob Triplehorn a single, Wertie Teets single, K.C. Jones single and Steve Curtis added a single and double to the Braves attack.

The Braves will travel to Laurelville on Wednesday to engage the Wildcats in a Scioto Valley Conference fray.

British Colt Slates Kentucky Derby Run

LONDON (AP) — British wine expert David Sandeman said Monday his colt Double Splash will go for the May 2 Kentucky Derby and will be the first from outside North America to try for the classic prize.

Sandeman bought the horse as a 2-year-old gray last October for $98,400. He immediately shipped it across the Atlantic for acclimatiaztion.

Willis Reed Leads Knicks In 112-111 Win Over Bucks

NEW YORK (AP) — Willis Reed said he felt like "Lew Alcincor's kid brother" on the basketball court. Maybe . . . but he didn't play like his kid brother.

Reed took on Milwaukee's super rookie in a matchup of matchless centers and helped New York bounce the Bucks 112-111 Monday night in the National Basketball Association playoffs.

The hard-earned victory propelled the Knicks into a 2-0 lead in the best-of-7 Eastern Division finals that move to Milwaukee for game No. 3 Friday night.

After Reed and Alcindor played to a standoff, the 6-foot-10 New York center quipped: "Man, it must be great to be tall."

He alluded to Alcindor's height, listed as 7-1 in the programs. But on the court, the difference appears to be more than three inches.

"He's the toughest center to guard," said Reed of the Big A. "Right now, with (Wilt) Chamberlain hurting, I'd say Alcindor's the No. 1 center in the NBA."

If Alcindor is No. 1, then what about Reed? All he did Monday night was score 36 points, wrestle 19 rebounds away from the Bucks and play his usual 110 per cent.

"I can't remember a game in which we played better," said Reed of his season-long wars with Alcindor. "Yes . . . this had to be one of the most satisfying games of my career."

Coach Red Holzman of New York, pointing to Alcindor's 38 points and 23 rebounds, agreed: "It's hard to imagine guys putting on a better performance . . . they did about everything you could ask of centers."

Riordan, who had entered the game seconds earlier, plunked in a spectacular, reverse lay-up that gave the Knicks a 110-107 lead. And Russell, the hip-twisting forward, tossed in a key bucket and later two foul shots with 34 seconds to go that made it 112-109.

Russell finished with 12 points, eight in the heart-thumping fourth quarter. Riordan, who played 12 minutes, had seven.

"We did everything but win the ballgame tonight," he said. "But we aren't finished—we're going back to Milwaukee Friday."

Ed Griffiths Named Golf Tour Director

ATLANTA (AP) — Ed Griffiths was named today as tour director for the women's pro golf tour.

"We feel extremely fortunate to get a man of Griffiths' experience and ability," said Bud Erickson, executive director of the ladies PGA, who made the announcement.

Griffiths, a former player on the men's pro tour, has been a tournament supervisor for the Tournament Players Division of the PGA for the past two years.

Tiger Golfers Split Match

In a triangular golf match played at the Pickaway Country Club Monday Circleville beat Hamilton Twp., 7-4, but dropped the match with Washington C. H. by an identical score of 7-4.

Greg Heiskell's 40 took medalist honors and won four points for the Tigers. He beat Junk of Washington C. H., 44, and won over Beggrow, 46, of Hamilton Twp.

Mike Vaughan with 44 added four points to the Red and Black total defeating Mahoney, 47, of Washington C. H. and Walker, 49, of Hamilton Twp.

Dave Haradon, 50, lost to Crosby, 41, of Washington and Miller, 43, of Hamilton.

Bill Casper Wins Masters Playoff

AUGUSTA, GA. (AP) — Bill Casper tipped all his listeners. It was 50 minutes before the first Monday shot rang out Augusta National club's mammoth pines. The other side hadn't even put on its spiked shoes.

"Gene Littler played better golf at age 19 than he does now," said Casper, the game's onetime fat boy. "Me? I get better with age."

Four holes after the two-man war began, Casper has proved his point. It was all but over. Buffalo Bill was ahead by four strokes and all Littler did on the back nine was make it a bearable afternoon for late-tuning television customers.

Casper shot 69 and won his first Masters. He wore the famed coat of green. Littler had a 74 and wore short sleeves.

Casper won the Opens of 1959 and 1966, beating Arnold Palmer in a come-from-behind playoff in the latter. He has never won the PGA championship or the British Open, but has joined Palmer and Jack Nicklaus as golf's only golfing millionaire.

"A grand slam today is impossible--or next to it," said Casper. "It was something 20 or 30 years ago, but there are three times as many fine golfers now. The odds against it are astounding."

Casper will try anyway. He announced plans to play in the remainder of the Big Four, the U.S. and British Opens and the PGA.

Casper was a relaxed champion, looking as if he felt he belonged in that green coat--even though it was three sizes too big.

"They must have measured it for me when I weighed 240," he said. "Hey, fellows, I'm skinnier now." Skinnier, yes, but the San Diego neighbor of Littler appears to have added back about 15 of the some 60 pounds he dropped on his famed diet a few years ago.

Despite playing Monday under sultry, 82-degree skies, Casper marched around the slopes of Augusta National in a thick sweater. "I like to keep my muscles warm," he said. "You won't catch me in short sleeves too often. I like being warm."

Casper said he seldom played defensive golf, the kind that may have cost him the 1969 Masters crown. He led for 54 holes but faded with a front nine 40 on Sunday and watched 6-foot-6 George Archer stride by to the title.

Circleville Nine Downs Trace For Third Win, 6-2

Combining the four hit pitching of Bryce Brown and a big fifth inning the Circleville Tigers beat Miami Trace, 6-2, Monday on the Tiger diamond.

Brown scattered four hits and struck out four as he went all the way to gain his second win of the season without a loss.

Circleville added a solid defense to bolster the pitching and took advantage of six Panther errors to gain its third victory of the year.

Trace jumped out in front in the second inning but Circleville evened it up in the third with a run. Doyle Kiser and Mike Fuller had singles in the inning and set up the Tiger run.

* * *

MIAMI took a 2-1 lead in the fifth on a stolen base by Jones and a pop fly double by Bihl.

It was a short lived lead as Circleville came up with the big inning in the fifth. Billy Thomas and Harold Smith both had big doubles in the uprising and some sloppy play in the field aided the Tiger cause.

Brown faced only six men in the last two innings and was aided by another fine job behind the plate by Billy Thomas. One man reached base on a Tiger miscue but was cut down attempting to pilfer second on a fine throw by Thomas.

Assistant Coach John Lawhorn has been working with the Tiger infield and it is paying off as defense has been getting better each outing.

ABA Club Owners Study Possible Merger With NBA

The owners were to hear a report concerning merger with the National Basketball Association.

The announcement of the merger committee report was made Monday by Commissioner Jack Dolph following a meeting of the owners.

At that meeting it was decided that the ABA would take over the Miami Floridians for the remainder of the season.

"The ABA has taken over the operation of Miami," Dolph said at a news conference. "We will attempt to restructure the ownership. Vince Murphy remains as general manager, acting for the league for the remainder of the season."

Dolph said the ABA wants to keep Miami as a base of operations and is considering the possibility of making it a regional representative such as the Carolina Cougars.

The commissioner also said the league is negotiating with CBS for telecasts of its playoffs but that the first round, which opens Friday, would not be televised because of CBS committments.

In another development Monday, Sam Shulman, a member of the NBA's merger committee, said in Los Angeles he was confident the conflict between Baltimore and Washington can be overcome. A stumbling block to merger has been the geographic closeness of the ABA Washington franchise and the NBA Baltimore club.

Shulman had said Saturday agreement on merger was close and one of the agreements was moving the Washington franchise. However, Washington owner Earl Foreman, not present at Monday's meeting here, said no agreement had been reached on moving Washington.

Foreman said Monday, "I understand his position of not wanting the fact made public that he might even be considering moving."

However, Shulman admitted there was a possibilty a merger agreement might not include moving the Washington franchise. He indicated he felt the move was a necessity in reaching a merger agreement.

Bucs Beat Indiana For 120-110 Win

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The New Orleans Buccaneers, although settled in last place in the Western Division of the American Basketball Association, came to life again Monday night with a 120-110 victory over Eastern Division champion Indiana.

Ron Frantz scored 24 points to pace the Bucs after four straight losses on the road. The victory gave the Bucs a 41-42 season mark, which they hope to even out in Wednesday night's finale against Dallas, to be played in New Orleans.

Indiana led in three - point field goals 8-6. The total of 14 was a home court record.

New Orleans was in front 33-22 at the end of the first quarter and 61-50 at halftime. Indiana took a one-point lead three times in the third period, but the Bucs moved in front to stay at 87-85.

Jackie Moreland, a veteran Buccaneer forward, announced he would retire after the game with Dallas. The Bucs will honor Moreland at halftime.

Paint Valley Beats Braves In SVC Tilt

Ken Short Blasts Homer For LE In Losing Cause

* * *

THE Bearcats scored one run in the second, three in the third and two in the fifth.

All the Logan Elm runs came in the fourth inning when Gary Francis singled and Ken Short blasted a tremendous home run over the left centerfield fence.

In addition to Short's homer Francis had two singles, Bob Triplehorn a single, Wertie Teets single, K.C. Jones single and Steve Curtis added a single and double to the Braves attack.

Padres Still Hex For Cincy; Top League Leaders, 3-1

CINCINNATI (AP)—The San Diego Padres continued their early season hex on the Cincinnati Reds Monday night, using clutch pitching and spectacular fielding to knock off the leaders of the Western Division of the National League, 3-1.

Relief pitching by Dave Roberts and Ron Herbel in the eighth and ninth innings preserved the win for starter Al Santorini, who gave the Reds only one hit in the first six innings. The Padres nicked the Reds five of the first six games last year although Cincinnati was up 11-7 at the end.

The Reds, who hit into three double plays, failed to capitalize after loading the bases in the third, seventh and eighth innings. They did manage to score Dave Concepcion in the third when Tommy Helms hit into a double play.

"We couldn't score when we had to," said Reds Manager Sparky Anderson, who coached last year at San Diego.

Anderson also said he thought the Padres were "much improved over last year."

Jimmy Dean, Padres shortstop, figured in all three double plays and hit his first home run of the season to open the San Diego's three run fourth inning.

"Dean has only one kidney, you know," said Padres Manager Preston Gomiz. "We have to give him a certain amount of rest. When he is in there, he provides great defensive strength but he won't hit much and we won't play him more than five games in a row."

Gomez said he felt the big play was in the eighth inning when Ron Herbel struck out Tony Perez on three straight sliders with one out and the bases loaded.

Pete Rose, who won the National League batting championship two years running, went hitless.

With two out and two on base in the ninth, Rose popped up to short.

Westfall Tops Laurelville

Harris Wields Big Bat In 6-3 Victory

Musselman fanned three, walked two and gave up three runs on as many hits during his mound stint. The Wildcats scored their three runs in the second inning on a pair of errors, a pair of walks and a single.

* * *

ALKIRE fanned seven, was touched for one hit during his three innings on the mound. He shutout the Wildcats and did not issue a single free pass to first base.

Westfall scored two runs in the first inning when John Riddle walked and Harris hit a homerun. In the fifth the Mustangs scored four. Riddle walked again and scored on Alkire's triple.

Harris singled, scoring Alkire. Harris then went to second on a passed ball and scored on Greg Bigam's single. Bigam moved to second on the throw home, advanced to third on a wild pitch and scored on a wild pitch.

The Mustangs play at Teays Valley tonight and at Piketon Wednesday. The Paul Hoskins coached squad has a 2-1-1 record for the season.

Andretti Finds Triangle Car Goes Great

Mario Andretti and the new $25.5 million Ontario Motor Speedway combined to prove it Monday as the winner of the 1969 Indianapolis 500 sent his new Indy car on a test spin.

He hit a top speed of about 190 miles an hour on the straightaway of the 2½-mile track even though he had no guide line to help him. Ontario's track had its final asphalt application only last Saturday and there wasn't enough time for the white line to be applied.

Andretti and No. 1 race at Indianapolis on Memorial Day and in the fall come to the inaugural of the California 500 at Ontario on Sept. 6.

Monday marked the first official turns around the oval. The honor of the first one went to Rodger Ward, winner at Indy in 1959 and 1962 and now director of public relations for the new track.

He toured in the No. 97 owned by Lionel Faas and J.C. Agahanian, an Indy entry last year which will be driven by Bruce Walkup in this year's 500-mile test.

All were on hand for the start of tire testing by Firestone. But the procedure was postponed until the guide stripes can be installed.

Worker Safety Items Displayed During Meeting

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The latest safety equipment, new protective clothing and powder-actuated tools are among hundreds of items being demonstrated during the three-day All-Ohio Safey Congress which opened here today.

Ohio's new Construction Safety Program—CISCO for short—also was on display for about 6,000 people attending the meeting.

Most of the meeting, sponsored by the state Industrial Commission and Division of Safety and Hygiene, will be devoted to sessions on safety in specific areas.

The 1971 USGA Women's Open golf championship has been set for the Kahkwa Club at Erie, Pa. The dates are June 24-27.

Braves Romp Over San Francisco, 9-3

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

Clyde King knows how to handle Hank Aaron in the future and Dave Bristol probably has figured out a similar remedy for Reggie Jackson the next time around.

Aaron, Atlanta's 36-year-old slugger, sent the Braves on the way to a 9-3 National League romp over King's San Francisco Giants Monday night with his 557th career home run—a towering, two-run wallop into the seldom-reached upper deck in Atlanta Stadium.

Jackson crossed up Bristol, Milwaukee's new skipper, with a two-out, two-run single in the seventh inning that gave the Oakland A's a 2-1 American League victory over the Brewers.

In other National League action, Los Angeles blanked Houston 2-0 on Don Sutton's two-hitter and San Diego ambushed Cincinnati 3-1 behind the solid relief pitching of Dave Roberts and Ron Herbel.

The Kansas City-Minnesota game, only other scheduled in the American League, was postponed because of snow at Minneapolis-St. Paul.

Sonny Jackson was on second base with a leadoff double and first base was open when Aaron slammed his third homer of the young season to trigger a four-run first-inning burst that all but decided the Braves' home opener.

"The only way to pitch to him is walk him," King observed afterward. "I'm just kidding, of course. Bu you don't hit a home run as far as he did and be slowing up."

Andy Kosco hit a sixth-inning homer and Sutton drove in a ninth inning insurance run with an infield hit before completing the Dodgers' second straight shutout victory. The Los Angeles right-hander limited the Astros to a second-inning double by Denis Menke and a sixth-inning single by Norm Miller, retiring the last 12 batters he faced.

Roberts replaced San Diego starter Al Santorini with the bases loaded in the seventh and pitched out of the jam to protect the Padres' two-run lead. Herbel rescued Roberts in the eighth, fanning Tony Perez and retiring Johnny Bench on a fly ball with runners on second and third.

Tommy Dean's homer and a two-run double by Clarence Gaston in the fourth provided the winning margin for Santorini, who yielded just one hit until the seventh.

Hawks Talk Of Blood Spilled In Playoffs With Lakers

ATLANTA (AP)—"There'll be a lot of blood spilt on that floor," said a tough-talking Atlanta Hawks Coach Richie Guerin, but National Basketball Association Commissioner Walter Kennedy talked tougher—$1,000 worth.

Guerin called a press conference Monday afternoon to charge that officials deliberately protected Elgin Baylor and Jerry West Sunday afternoon as they helped the Los Angeles Lakers to a 119-115 victory over the Hawks in the first game of Western Division final playoffs.

"If that's the way they're going to call the game, Baylor and West won't be around to shoot 18 or 20 fouls," Guerin said.

"It is inconceivable to me," said Kennedy, that any coach in any sport, even under the most severe emotional strain, would threaten 'there will be a lot of blood spilled on that floor tomorrow night' and that 'certain players may not be around when the game is over'."

Kennedy then announced that he is fining Guerin $1,000 and holding Guerin personally responsible for the conduct of his Hawks in the second game of the best of seven series tonight in Atlanta and for the rest of the playoffs.

Guerin replied that he would appeal the fine and that his "players aren't going to be pushed around again, that's for sure."

Meanwhile, Lakers General Manager Fred Schaus refused to "dignify" Guerin's charges with a reply, but said he was going to request increased security at the coliseum in Atlanta tonight around the players bench and between the floor and the dressing room.

"You never know after a statement like that what some fan will do," Schaus said.

Dolphins Lose Draft Choice For Violation

Pete Rozelle, commissioner of the National Football League, handed down that penalty Monday to the Dolphins when he found the club guilty of tampering in its successful effort to lure Don Shula away from the Colts.

Rozelle said his investigation uncovered that Miami had violated league rules on three counts.

They permitted a third party to approach Shula with an indication of possible terms, including part ownership; they began direct negotiations with Shula without informing the Colts of their interest until Feb. 18, the day Shula's hiring was announced.

When Shula requested permission to negotiate, Rozelle said, it was granted by the Baltimore management on Feb. 3. Rozelle said that NFL rules specifically require that a prospective employer make a direct phone call to the employer "for permission before any negotiating discussions took place."

CINCINNATI (AP)—The San Diego Padres continued their early season hex on the Cincinnati Reds Monday night, using clutch pitching and spectacular fielding to knock off the leaders of the Western Division of the National League, 3-1.

Relief pitching by Dave Roberts and Ron Herbel in the eighth and ninth innings preserved the win for starter Al Santorini, who gave the Reds only one hit in the first six innings. The Padres nicked the Reds five of the first six games last year although Cincinnati was up 11-7 at the end.

The Reds, who hit into three double plays, failed to capitalize after loading the bases in the third, seventh and eighth innings. They did manage to score Dave Concepcion in the third when Tommy Helms hit into a double play.

"We couldn't score when we had to," said Reds Manager Sparky Anderson, who coached last year at San Diego.

Anderson also said he thought the Padres were "much improved over last year."

Jimmy Dean, Padres shortstop, figured in all three double plays and hit his first home run of the season to open the San Diego's three run fourth inning.

"Dean has only one kidney, you know," said Padres Manager Preston Gomiz. "We have to give him a certain amount of rest. When he is in there, he provides great defensive strength but he won't hit much and we won't play him more than five games in a row."

Gomez said he felt the big play was in the eighth inning when Ron Herbel struck out Tony Perez on three straight sliders with one out and the bases loaded.

"That was the game right there," Gomez said.

Pete Rose, who won the National League batting championship two years running, went hitless.

With two out and two on base in the ninth, Rose popped up to short.

Westfall Tops Laurelville

Harris Wields Big Bat In 6-3 Victory

Westfall High School's baseball team defeated Laurelville, 6-3, Monday in a game played on the Mustang diamond.

Larry Harris, sophomore catcher, was the offensive gun for the Mustangs, blasting a home run and a single, driving in three runs and scoring two.

Musselman fanned three, walked two and gave up three runs on as many hits during his mound stint. The Wildcats scored their three runs in the second inning on a pair of errors, a pair of walks and a single.

* * *

ALKIRE fanned seven, was touched for one hit during his three innings on the mound. He shutout the Wildcats and did not issue a single free pass to first base.

Mike Eveland went the route for Laurelville, fanning four, walking four, hitting one batter and allowing six runs on four hits.

Westfall scored two runs in the first inning when John Riddle walked and Harris hit a homerun. In the fifth the Mustangs scored four. Riddle walked again and scored on Alkire's triple.

Harris singled, scoring Alkire. Harris then went to second on a passed ball and scored on Greg Bigam's single. Bigam moved to second on the throw home, advanced to third on a wild pitch and scored on a wild pitch.

The Mustangs play at Teays Valley tonight and at Piketon Wednesday. The Paul Hoskins coached squad has a 2-1-1 record for the season.

Andretti Finds Triangle Car Goes Great

Mario Andretti and the new $25.5 million Ontario Motor Speedway combined to prove it Monday as the winner of the 1969 Indianapolis 500 sent his new Indy car on a test spin.

He hit a top speed of about 190 miles an hour on the straightaway of the 2½-mile track even though he had no guide line to help him. Ontario's track had its final asphalt application only last Saturday and there wasn't enough time for the white line to be applied.

From the front it looks triangular with the larger sections of the fuel tanks nearer the ground, lowering the center of gravity.

Andretti and No. 1 race at Indianapolis on Memorial Day and in the fall come to the inaugural of the California 500 at Ontario on Sept. 6.

Monday marked the first official turns around the oval. The honor of the first one went to Rodger Ward, winner at Indy in 1959 and 1962 and now director of public relations for the new track.

He toured in the No. 97 owned by Lionel Faas and J.C. Agahanian, an Indy entry last year which will be driven by Bruce Walkup in this year's 500-mile test.

Ward reached speeds of 175 on the straightaway after a rather slow start. The lack of guide lines hampered him, he said.

Newsmen and invited guests watched the inaugural runnings which also included laps in a Parnelli Jones car by his Al Unser and Joe Leonard.

All were on hand for the start of tire testing by Firestone. But the procedure was postponed until the guide stripes can be installed.

Braves Romp Over San Francisco, 9-3

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

Clyde King knows how to handle Hank Aaron in the future and Dave Bristol probably has figured out a similar remedy for Reggie Jackson the next time around.

Aaron, Atlanta's 36-year-old slugger, sent the Braves on the way to a 9-3 National League romp over King's San Francisco Giants Monday night with his 557th career home run—a towering, two-run wallop into the seldom-reached upper deck in Atlanta Stadium.

Jackson crossed up Bristol, Milwaukee's new skipper, with a two-out, two-run single in the seventh inning that gave the Oakland A's a 2-1 American League victory over the Brewers.

In other National League action, Los Angeles blanked Houston 2-0 on Don Sutton's two-hitter and San Diego ambushed Cincinnati 3-1 behind the solid relief pitching of Dave Roberts and Ron Herbel.

The Kansas City-Minnesota game, only other scheduled in the American League, was postponed because of snow at Minneapolis-St. Paul.

Sonny Jackson was on second base with a leadoff double and first base was open when Aaron slammed his third homer of the young season to trigger a four-run first-inning burst that all but decided the Braves' home opener.

"The only way to pitch to him is walk him," King observed afterward. "I'm just kidding, of course. But you don't hit a home run as far as he did and be slowing up."

"I didn't know how far it was going," said Aaron. "I just knew it was going out of the ball park."

Andy Kosco hit a sixth-inning homer and Sutton drove in a ninth inning insurance run with an infield hit before completing the Dodgers' second straight shutout victory. The Los Angeles right-hander limited the Astros to a second-inning double by Denis Menke and a sixth-inning single by Norm Miller, retiring the last 12 batters he faced.

Roberts replaced San Diego starter Al Santorini with the bases loaded in the seventh and pitched out of the jam to protect the Padres' two-run lead. Herbel rescued Roberts in the eighth, fanning Tony Perez and retiring Johnny Bench on a fly ball with runners on second and third.

Tommy Dean's homer and a two-run double by Clarence Gaston in the fourth provided the winning margin for Santorini, who yielded just one hit until the seventh.

Hawks Talk Of Blood Spilled In Playoffs With Lakers

ATLANTA (AP)—"There'll be a lot of blood spilt on that floor," said a tough-talking Atlanta Hawks Coach Richie Guerin, but National Basketball Association Commissioner Walter Kennedy talked tougher—$1,000 worth.

Guerin called a press conference Monday afternoon to charge that officials deliberately protected Elgin Baylor and Jerry West Sunday afternoon as they helped the Los Angeles Lakers to a 119-115 victory over the Hawks in the first game of Western Division final playoffs.

"If that's the way they're going to call the game, Baylor and West won't be around to shoot 18 or 20 fouls," Guerin said.

"It is inconceivable to me," said Kennedy, that any coach in any sport, even under the most severe emotional strain, would threaten 'there will be a lot of blood spilled on that floor tomorrow night' and that 'certain players may not be around when the game is over'."

Kennedy then announced that he is fining Guerin $1,000 and holding Guerin personally responsible for the conduct of his Hawks in the second game of the best of seven series tonight in Atlanta and for the rest of the playoffs.

Guerin replied that he would appeal the fine and that his "players aren't going to be pushed around again, that's for sure."

Meanwhile, Lakers General Manager Fred Schaus refused to "dignify" Guerin's charges with a reply, but said he was going to request increased security at the coliseum in Atlanta tonight around the players bench and between the floor and the dressing room.

"You never know after a statement like that what some fan will do," Schaus said.

Dolphins Lose Draft Choice For Violation

Pete Rozelle, commissioner of the National Football League, handed down that penalty Monday to the Dolphins when he found the club guilty of tampering in its successful effort to lure Don Shula away from the Colts.

Rozelle said his investigation uncovered that Miami had violated league rules on three counts.

They permitted a third party to approach Shula with an indication of possible terms, including part ownership; they began direct negotiations with Shula without informing the Colts of their interest until Feb. 18, the day Shula's hiring was announced.

Rozelle said neither Shula nor the Dolphins told the Colts of their negotiations until preliminary discussions had already begun.

When Shula requested permission to negotiate, Rozelle said, it was granted by the Baltimore management on Feb. 3. Rozelle said that NFL rules specifically require that a prospective employer make a direct phone call to the employer "for permission before any negotiating discussions took place."

Some men and women make mistakes about careers and settle for jobs where their personalities and ambitions are stifled — their qualifications ignored.

At FAS International, Inc. — Famous Artists, Famous Writers and Famous Photographers Schools — there is no limit to a determined man's income. He can go as far up the ladder as his ambition permits.

Our famous courses are advertised in Life, Readers Digest, etc., and on TV. Responses to our advertising result in a very high percentage of sales; there is no canvassing; the high commissions are paid weekly, and company fringe benefits permit a conscientious salesman or saleswoman to enter the upper bracket quickly.

Ideally the man we are looking for is over 25 years of age, bondable, owns a good serviceable car and knows how to sell, and how to motivate people to self-improvement.

Board Okays 'Motel-School' At Nelsonville

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Board of Education's decision Monday to build a 57-unit motel to teach students the business was hailed by State School Supt. Martin Essex.

Believed to be the first venture of its kind in the nation, the motel will be operated under a joint program between the Tri-County Joint Vocational District and Imperial Corp., operators of Imperial House Hotels.

Federal Appalachian funds will pay $900,000 of the construction costs and the remaining $400,000 will be raised by the Tri-County district through sale of 15 - year bonds. No state money is involved.

Imperial Corp. has agreed to guarantee the bonds and provide management personnel. It will not share in the motel's profits or use its name on the building to promote it.

Educational officials said profits from the motel will be used to retire bonds, then used for developing further vocational programs.

In other action, the board approved vocational education plans for 495 of Ohio's 638 school districts and allocated $8.3 million in funds to 10 school districts for construction of job training facilities.

Allocated funds were Lorain County $1,297,003, Washington County $302,240; South Central Cuyahoga County $1,406,500; Mahoning County $3,376,236, Pioneer Joint Vocational School $561,100, Springfield-Clark Joint Vocational School $349,986, Sylvania $105,000, Lakewood City $92,200, Kent $760,038 and Lake County $73,660.

Train Collides With Slow House

VIRDEN, Ill. (AP) —A slow-moving house was struck by a fast-moving passenger train near Virden.

The house was being moved by truck and didn't clear a crossing on a country road north of Virden Saturday in time to avoid being hit by a Gulf, Mobile I Ohio train from St. Louis.

State police reported no injuries. The train continued to Chicago 20 minutes later. Officers said the front room of the house was damaged extensively.

Call Off Search For 11 Airmen

NAHA, Okinawa (AP) — The Air Force has called off search operations for the 11 crewmen —including an Ohioan — lost Friday when their transport plane crashed in the Pacific about 20 miles from here.

3 Students Fight Fee Increases

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—Three college students have asked courts to determine whether they should be charged fees as out-of-state residents while attending school in Ohio.

The actions were brought separately by Ralph W. Einer, a senior, and Kenneth Kolbjornsen, a law student, both at he University of Toledo, and by Jim Kreiger, a sophomore at Com-Tech, a technical facility affiliated with the university.

Klolbjornsen's action is pending in the 6th District Court of Appeals. He contends he is an Ohio resident because he registered here as a voter in 1965 and has voted in local elections since 1966.

Einer's action was filed in Lucas County Common Pleas Court. He contends he has been a registered voter here since 1968.

Krieger argues he is a native of Ohio but is being charged as an out-of-state resident because his parents now live in Michigan.

Joe Hayman, counsel for the university, said the state attorney general's office recommended that the university apply the normal residency requirements in the case and that these rules be presented in court.

Some men and women make mistakes about careers and settle for jobs where their personalities and ambitions are stifled — their qualifications ignored.

At FAS International, Inc. — Famons Artists, Famous Writers and Famous Photographers Schools — there is no limit to a determined man's income. He can go as far up the ladder as his ambition permits.

Our famous courses are advertised in Life, Readers Digest, etc., and on TV. Responses to our advertising result in a very high percentage of sales; there is no canvassing; the high commissions are paid weekly, and company fringe benefits permit a conscientious salesman or saleswoman to enter the upper bracket quickly.

Ideally the man we are looking for is over 25 years of age, bondable, owns a good serviceable car and knows how to sell, and how to motivate people to self-improvement.

Board Okays 'Motel-School' At Nelsonville

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Board of Education's decision Monday to build a 57-unit motel to teach students the business was hailed by State School Supt. Martin Essex.

The board approved construction of the $1.3 million motel at Nelsonville.

Believed to be the first venture of its kind in the nation, the motel will be operated under a joint program between the Tri-County Joint Vocational District and Imperial Corp., operators of Imperial House Hotels.

Federal Appalachian funds will pay $900,000 of the construction costs and the remaining $400,000 will be raised by the Tri-County district through sale of 15 - year bonds. No state money is involved.

Imperial Corp. has agreed to guarantee the bonds and provide management personnel. It will not share in the motel's profits or use its name on the building to promote it.

Educational officials said profits from the motel will be used to retire bonds, then used for developing further vocational programs.

More than 30 area motel and restaurant owners had opposed the project.

In other action, the board approved vocational education plans for 495 of Ohio's 638 school districts and allocated $8.3 million in funds to 10 school districts for construction of job training facilities.

Allocated funds were Lorain County $1,297,003, Washington County $302,240; South Central Cuyahoga County $1,406,500; Mahoning County $3,376,236, Pioneer Joint Vocational School $561,100, Springfield-Clark Joint Vocational School $349,986, Sylvania $105,000, Lakewood City $92,200, Kent $760,038 and Lake County $73,660.

One Electronic Accounting Machine having a minimum of 80 words of alpha-numeric memory which must be expandable to 200 words of alpha-numeric memory; must have 26" carriage that can be split at 10" left and 16" right side, or can be operated as full 26" platen, and be fluid driven. The machine must have the Magnetic Ledger Card Feature with minimum storage of 260 alpha-numeric digits.

This unit must be externally programmed by the manufacturer and utilize a single position control bar to post all debit and credit entries, reporting summeries and make corrections for each application listed below. Each application must have a visual programming sequence shield; must be able to correct errors with single key depression, and print identifying error correction symbol.

The machine must have a conventional 72 character electric typewriter and must be able to type on entire 26" platen; must be able to clear totals manually, by program control, in column or in report format; must be able to split memory and ledger amount totals. One year maintenance gratis with guaranteed service contract available at end of first year. The manufacturer will completely program all applications listed below and supervise complete training of all operations. Approximate delivery 90 days, with installation by manufacturer and assistance in design of all forms used in conjunction with system.

This machine must be expandable so that in the future alpha-numeric card input and output may be added.

Machine to be equipped with programs designed to perform the following applications: Patients' Accounts Receivable, Insurance Billing, Accounts Receivable, Payroll, W-2 preparation, P.E.R.S. Reporting, Accounts Payable, General Ledger, Monthly Financial Statements.

Said sealed proposals will be received up to 12:00 o'clock Noon on the 7th day of May, 1970, when said bids will be opened. Said Board reserves the right to reject any and all bids or parts of any bid submitted.

Train Collides With Slow House

VIRDEN, Ill. (AP) —A slow-moving house was struck by a fast-moving passenger train near Virden.

The house was being moved by truck and didn't clear a crossing on a country road north of Virden Saturday in time to avoid being hit by a Gulf, Mobile 1 Ohio train from St. Louis.

State police reported no injuries. The train continued to Chicago 20 minutes later. Officers said the front room of the house was damaged extensively.

Call Off Search For 11 Airmen

NAHA, Okinawa (AP) — The Air Force has called off search operations for the 11 crewmen —including an Ohioan — lost Friday when their transport plane crashed in the Pacific about 20 miles from here.

3 Students Fight Fee Increases

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—Three college students have asked courts to determine whether they should be charged fees as out-of-state residents while attending school in Ohio.

The actions were brought separately by Ralph W. Einer, a senior, and Kenneth Kolbjornsen, a law student, both at he University of Toledo, and by Jim Kreiger, a sophomore at Com-Tech, a technical facility affiliated with the university.

Klolbjornsen's action is pending in the 6th District Court of Appeals. He contends he is an Ohio resident because he registered here as a voter in 1965 and has voted in local elections since 1966.

Einer's action was filed in Lucas County Common Pleas Court. He contends he has been a registered voter here since 1968.

Krieger argues he is a native of Ohio but is being charged as an out-of-state resident because his parents now live in Michigan.

Joe Hayman, counsel for the university, said the state attorney general's office recommended that the university apply the normal residency requirements in the case and that these rules be presented in court.

Critics Rap Steel Firm Takeover

DETROIT (AP)—Criticism of Cyclops Corp.'s announced intention to take over Detroit Steel Corp. through a stock tender offer was raised Monday at a meeting of Detroit Steel stockholders.

Criticizing the proposal were Robert Ravitz, a partner in David J. Greene and Co. of New York, who said he represented 160,000 shares, and J. Edward Roney of the William C. Roney Co. of Detroit. Both firms are members of the New York Stock Exchange.

Both said it was their opinion Cyclops plans to offer other stockholders substantially less for their stock than it paid in acquiring 761,794 shares, or 19.3 per cent of Detroit Steel's total, from American Export Industries Inc., earlier this year.

Charles A. Carter, Detroit Steel president, said management was advised last Thursday that Cyclops had reported its purchase to the Security and Exchange Commission, saying it was made "in order to facilitate the acquisition by Cyclops of control of the business of Detroit through the solicitation of tenders to be made some time in the future."

Stockholders elected management nominees, Chester P. Fitch and Richard A. Scharge, as directors to succeed Jakob Isbrandtsen, American Export president, and Albert Rising Jr., American Export's vice president.

Fitch is a Portsmouth, Ohio, attorney. Scharge is vice president in charge of Detroit Steel's strip division.

Carter said he anticipated Detroit Steel will show a "slight loss" for this year's first quarter due to weakness in the general economy and a slow down in auto production.

Ravitz said it appeared Cyclops had paid American Export the equivalent of approximately $22 per share in cash and notes, plus 10-year warrants to purchase 150,000 shares of Cyclops common at $46 a share.

Cyclops has reported it paid $12 million cash and gave a $5 million note, along with the warrants.

Cyclops was quoted as having told newsmen it would offer Detroit stockholders for each of their shares a new cumulative preferred stock of Cyclops, with an annual dividend of 90 cents a share and a face value of $17, plus a 10-year warrant to purchase one-third share of Cyclops common at 15 per cent above the market price prevailing when the exchange offer becomes effective.

Ravitz estimated the offer actually amounted to between $12 and $14 a share.

"The remaining 81 per cent of Detroit Steel is worth as much per share as American Export holdings," Ravitz said.

NEW YORK (AP) — Picking the hits and misses among the new television shows next season can be a risky business.

But Herb Jacob, who claims a 95 per cent record over the past five years, has stuck out his neck again with a forecast of next season. Jacobs is chairman of Telcom Associates, Inc., a research company.

As he sees it, Andy Griffith will be the biggest hit of the new shows.

'He's a known quantity," said Jacobs. "His fans missed him and will flock over to him."

Other hits will be Flip Wilson and Don Knotts with their own variety shows and Danny Thomas back with a situation comedy called "Make Room for Granddaddy."

Jacobs looks for Mary Tyler Moore to be an early casualty. She is up against tough competition in "Mod Squad" and Knotts. Another factor, he said, is that an audience survey people associated her as Dick Van Dyke's co-star.

Tim Conway's new variety show is given little chance. "Tim Conway is a good second banana but he has had two bombs on his own,' Jacobs said.

"Don Knotts on the other hand scored heavily in the box-office with his own movies. And Flip Wilson is big with teens and young people and doesn't need big guest stars to pull in the audience."

He looks for "Dial Hot Line," Vince Edward's first series since "Ben Casey," to ring up a wrong number. "The competition is tough and the story's too heavy," he said. 'It dispenses nickel and dime psychology to a lot of people with serious hang-ups."

"I liked the 'Partridge Family,' " Jacobs said. "Shirley Jones and the kids are great. But a new show is established by rubbernecking and since it's up against Andy Griffith there won't be many people around to sample it."

"The Young Lawyers" is up against "Gunsmoke" and Red Skelton on Monday nights. It isn't given as much chance to make it as "Storefront Lawyers" on Wednesday night, which has lesser competition. And, Jacobs said, he found 'The Young Lawyers" to be a better show.

"Arnie" is a comedy on Saturday nights which he expects to succeed because it's good and because of weak competition.

"The Odd Couple," "Barefoot in the Park" and 'Nancy" are expected to catch on. 'Silence Force" will sink without a trace, he predicts, and ABC's Monday night pro football is going to have some tough competition—from the wives.

Student March Should Be Quiet, Organizers Say

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A march on the Statehouse next Saturday by college students will be a peaceful expression of opinion and should not "frighten politicians into making unfortunate statements, organizers said Monday.

"Students for Reasonable Fees," a group protesting planned fee hikes at state universities, said it will go ahead with the march despite an admonition by Atty. Gen. Paul W. Brown.

Brown said earlier Monday the students should stay on their campuses and do something about drug abuse and campus crime.

The group said in a statement Brown was trying to "cloud the issue and discourage responsible student political involvement."

GUARANTEED RENEWABLE FOR LIFE. At last, a hospital plan that guarantees never to cancel your protection

ACT NOW — YOU MUST MAIL ENROLLMENT FORM BELOW BY MIDNIGHT, THURS., APRIL 16, OR IT CANNOT BE ACCEPTED

Here are the questions you'd normally ask your insurance man. But we answered them instead . . . so you would be able to insure yourself, right from this page. (You'll be amazed how much it saves you.)

1 When can I collect up to $400.00 A MONTH?

Every time you are confined to the hospital you collect $400.00 a month. You are covered from the very first day for accidents, the fourth day for sickness, even for life, if necessary. And you collect cash not just for yourself but for every Covered Member of your family.

2 How can I collect extra cash—if I'm 65 or over?

If you are 65 or over, we pay you $200.00-a-month extra cash for the first 3 months and $400.00 monthly while continuously hospitalized afterwards, in addition to Medicare benefits. This is extra. You collect for each illness or injury—each time you go to the hospital.

3 When do I collect up to $2,000.00 extra cash for accidents?

We pay you $1,000.00 extra cash for complete accidental loss of one hand or one foot or sight of one eye, and $2,000.00 extra cash for loss of both hands or both feet or sight of both eyes—even if it happens as long as 90 days after the accident. This is all extra money. You collect it on top of any other benefits we pay you. Not just for yourself but for every Covered Member of your family!

4 What if I am hospitalized by the same illness—again?

Don't worry. You still collect $400.00 a month and if you've already resumed full normal activities for just 90 days — we call it a "new confinement". Which means you can collect all over again, even for life, if necessary.

5 If I already have some health insurance—will you pay me anyway?

Of course! Never mind what you collect from Blue Cross, Blue Shield, or Workmen's Compensation, or any insurance you may have with other companies. (Even for the same illness!) We still pay you $400.00-a-month extra cash income. So if other insurance has taken care of some—or even all—of your medical bills . . . you still have that extra cash income from National Home.

6 Why do I need this Plan in addition to other hospital and health insurance?

While hospital costs have more than doubled in recent years, few people have doubled their insurance. If your other hospitalization policies are more than two years old, you have already lost 1/3 of the benefits DUE TO SKYROCKETING MEDICAL COSTS!

7 Do you pay me cash when my children go to the hospital?

Yes! When you have Coverage for Children you receive $240.00-a-month for each dependent child between the ages of 1 month through 18 years. Coverage for accidents begins on the first day — sickness on the fourth day.

They surely will! And at no extra cost. When you have Coverage for Children (with or without Maternity Benefits), newborn children are automatically covered as soon as they are one month old.

9 Will you pay me $400.00-a-month cash—even for maternity care?

Yes, even when pregnancy requires hospitalization. Many health plans DON'T cover maternity expense. But under this Plan with Coverage for Children and Maternity Benefits, you collect $400.00-a-month for each pregnancy, childbirth or miscarriage that results in a hospital stay. (Both parents must be enrolled in this Plan for the entire pregnancy.)

10 Does this Plan pay for a Registered Nurse at home?

Yes, in addition to the $400.00-a-month cash we send you for your hospital stay, we pay you an extra $400.00 a month if the doctor has you employ a full-time Registered Nurse to take care of you at home.

How comforting it is to know that—after your stay in the hospital, if you've been there five days or more—you can return home to recuperate and yet not be a burden to your loved ones. Yes, if your doctor has you employ a full-time Registered Nurse within 5 days after you come home, we'll pay you $400.00 a month. And your benefits continue for the same number of days (for which benefits were payable) you were hospitalized—up to 12 full months.

11 Are there times I might collect as much as $1,600.00 A MONTH?

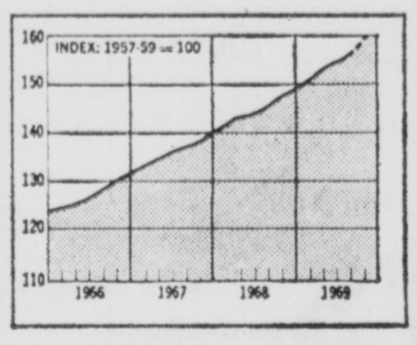
Yes, there are! Remember, we pay cash not just for you but for every Covered Member of your family. So if you or your spouse are hospitalized more than once . . . or even both of you more than once . . . or if a child gets sick or has an accident — you could end up collecting $10,000.00 or more! And that's not the whole story. This National Health Plan gives policyowners an EXTRAORDINARY DOUBLE-CASH BENEFIT. If you and your covered spouse are in an accident and both of you have to go to the hospital at the same time, National Home pays double cash amounts. You collect not $400.00 but $800.00 a month. Your spouse collects not $400.00 but $800.00 a month. That's $1,600.00 a month (when under age 65). Yes, $1,600.00 you can count on month after month—for as long as both of you remain in the hospital . . . even for life, if necessary.

12 Can I spend my cash benefits any way I please?

Certainly! You can even put them in the bank to replace savings spent while you were laid up in the hospital without income. It's your money — and all the cash comes direct to you, not to the doctor or hospital. (Unless, of course, you ask us to.)

Medical Costs Skyrocketing!

Source: Wall Street Journal



MEDICAL CARE COSTS rose in September, 1969, to 157.6% of the 1957-59 average from 156.8% a month earlier. These costs are components of the Government consumer price index.

13 What do others have to say about National Home?

"Received your check for $880.00. I appreciate having the money sent directly to me so I could decide how to use it."

NICHOLAS CRISTL, Green Bay, Wisc.

"It was wonderful to receive your check for $555.00. I'm very pleased. It paid real well."

MRS. BESSIE GEISINGER,
Kansas City, Mo.

"Everyone should have your coverage. I know I wouldn't be without it."

WALTER TUCKER, Fayetteville, N.C.

14 Can I stop paying premiums during an extra long hospitalization—yet still remain fully covered?

Should you—the person to whom the basic Policy is issued—be hospitalized for 8 consecutive weeks or more, this National Health Plan will pay all premiums that come due for you and all Covered Members of your family while you are confined to the hospital beyond the initial 8-week period. And your protection continues just the same as if you were paying the premiums yourself.

15 How can you give me so much—for so little?

Because you deal direct with the company—direct with National Home itself! No middleman needed! Costly "processing charges" are eliminated. So is "red tape". You handle each simple step yourself — in your own home . . . in your own good time . . . by making up your own mind. And of course, dealing by mail is confidential. No one need know your personal affairs — except you!

Certainly not! We give you more personal service, not less. But instead of getting it when you sign up—YOU GET IT WHEN YOU HAVE A CLAIM! That's where it really means something. And that's where National Home gives you plenty of service.

17 All right, now that you mention it—how do I go about submitting a claim?

As a National Home policyowner, you're entitled to contact FAST CLAIM HEADQUARTERS direct. No frantic attempts to locate your broker. No anxious waiting. If you have a claim for illness or injury, don't hesitate—CONTACT US DIRECT! Even if you only have a question! Don't worry about "inconveniencing" or "annoying" anyone. WE ARE ALWAYS READY AND HAPPY TO GIVE YOU THE PROMPT, COURTEOUS AND DIRECT ATTENTION YOU ARE ENTITLED TO AS OUR POLICYOWNER!

No lengthy, complicated applications or embarrassing personal "investigations"! The short Enrollment Form on this page tells us all we need to know. Notice it doesn't ask for a medical examination. Or set an age limit. (As long as you have not been refused or had cancelled any health, hospital or life insurance for reasons of health, we don't care if you're over 100!) Most important, we enroll many persons at the same time. Not one Policy at a time, the old-fashioned way, but thousands at once—using all the economies of mass printing and latest computer techniques. That's how we can give you so much for only 25¢.

Get ready for a welcome surprise. Your Policy pays during hospital confinement for EVERYTHING except conditions caused by: act of war; any mental disease or disorder; pregnancy, except as provided under the Maternity Benefit provision; and any sickness or injury you had before the Effective Date of your Policy—but even this last "exclusion" is done away with after you've been a policyowner for two years. Everything else is definitely covered. The last item, by the way, is a real help if you already have a health problem. It means that even if you were sick before you took out this Policy—you will be covered for any recurrences of that condition after the Policy has been in effect for only two years.

20 If I'm hospitalized less than a month—do you still pay cash benefits?

Of course we do! Your coverage begins on the first day you're hospitalized for an accident, on the fourth day for an illness, even if you're confined for only one week.

You start collecting $400.00 a month TAX-FREE cash for accidents from the very first day in the hospital and for sickness, from the fourth day in the hospital.

23 Will my protection be cancelled for any reason?

No—positively not! Only you can cancel! This National Health Plan is GUARANTEED RENEWABLE FOR LIFE! That means regardless of how much or how often you collect . . . or how old you become . . . we can never cancel your valuable protection.

Because U.S. Government figures show that in the past few years alone . . . medical costs have DOUBLED! Yet few people have anywhere near enough protection to meet these soaring doctor and hospital bills. How much would a long hospital stay cost you? Or a loved one? How would you ever pay for costly X-rays, doctor bills, medicines and drugs not covered by your present insurance? Would you be able to afford the quiet and dignity of a private room and a private nurse? Or a telephone to keep in touch with loved ones. Or the rental of a TV set to help pass the lonely hours? And who would pay for rent, food, clothing and household expenses—all the non-medical bills that keep coming in at home even though you are in the hospital without an income? Many folks have lost their life savings, their cars, even their homes trying to meet runaway hospital and medical costs. And no one knows whose turn it will be next—yours or mine. But we both know that once the doctor says you have to enter the hospital, it is too late to buy coverage at any price. That's why this protection was designed to give you the "extra help" you need — when you need it.

25 When may I enroll in this National Health Plan?

The question is not "when may" but "when must?" YOU ABSOLUTELY MUST ENROLL BY THE DATE SHOWN ON THE ENROLLMENT FORM ON THIS PAGE. YOUR 25¢ AND COMPLETED FORM MUST BE POSTMARKED NO LATER THAN THAT DATE OR IT CANNOT BE ACCEPTED.

26 When will my Policy arrive?

Right away! We mail your Policy as soon as we accept your Enrollment Form and 25¢. Examine it in the privacy of your own home. It's a very short document and you'll be pleasantly surprised to discover — THERE IS NO "FINE PRINT"! If you wish, show it to someone you trust—perhaps your lawyer, accountant or banker. Better still, show it to your own insurance man—even though he may be working for another insurance company. If he is a personal friend, he has your best interests in mind. So you can believe him when he tells you there is no better bargain available anywhere — at any price.

27 What if I change my mind—can I get my money back?

You certainly can! Even after you mail your Enrollment Form . . . even after you examine your Policy in your own home and talk it over with anyone you wish . . . even after all this, you are still free to change your mind. Simply return the Policy within 15 days after you receive it, and your quarter will be refunded at once. There will be no obligation whatever. Meanwhile, all during the 15 days you are making up your mind, you will be protected by $400.00-a-month extra cash benefits from the Effective Date on the Policy—even if you finally decide to return the Policy and get your quarter back. But we don't think you'll want your quarter back. We think, instead, you'll want to continue your valuable protection at National Home's amazing low rates.

The following rate chart shows you how little it costs, after the first month, to protect yourself your spouse and any adult dependent. Naturally, at these low rates. we can issue you only one policy of this type. Each adult, 16 or over, pays the rate shown for his or her age.

Age at Enrollment	Monthly Premium per Adult
16-44	only $2.75
45-49	only $2.95
50-54	only $3.45
55-74	only $3.95
75-79	only $4.45
80-84	only $4.95
85 and over	only $5.95

Only $1.45 more per month covers all your dependent, unmarried children . . . from the age of 1 month through 18 years. And then, if you wish, just add 95¢ monthly to that, and you're completely covered for Maternity Benefits, too! Newborn children are covered automatically at the age of one month—at no additional cost!

NOTE: The regular monthly premium shown here (for your age at time of enrollment) is the same low premium you will continue to pay; it will not automatically increase as you pass from one age bracket to the next. Once you have enrolled, your rate can never be changed because of how much or how often you collect from us—or because of advanced age—but only if there is a general rate adjustment, up or down, on all policies of this type in your entire state.

29 How do I enroll?

If what you have read on this page makes good honest sense to you . . . if you find yourself agreeing with thousands of other Americans who welcome this sensible way to save money by "insuring themselves"—then by all means act on your own good instincts and mail the Enrollment Form with 25¢ now! Please act without delay. NO SALESMAN WILL CALL. Please mail it NOW — because once accident or illness strikes—it's TOO LATE to buy protection at any price. Remember, the sooner you mail your Form, the sooner your protection will start. So act today—before anything unexpected happens.

PAYS $400.00-a-month extra cash for each hospital stay-even for life, if necessary.

PAYS in addition to any other companies' coverage you have —even Medicare!

PAYS $200.00-a-month cash for 3 months and $400.00 monthly afterwards — on top of Medicare — if you are 65 or over!

PAYS $240.00-a-month extra cash for every covered child!

PAYS $400.00-a-month extra cash for pregnancy!

PAYS $1,600.00 a month if an accident puts you and your spouse (under age 65) in the hospital at the same time!

PAYS up to $2,000.00 extra cash for loss of limbs or eyesight!

PAYS all cash direct to you (NOT to doctor or hospital)!

PAYS all cash 100% tax-free — to spend as you wish!

GUARANTEED RENEWABLE FOR LIFE. At last, a hospital plan that guarantees never to cancel your protection

Here are the questions you'd normally ask your insurance man. But we answered them instead . . . so you would be able to insure yourself, right from this page. (You'll be amazed how much it saves you.)

1 When can I collect up to $400.00 A MONTH?

Every time you are confined to the hospital you collect $400.00 a month. You are covered from the very first day for accidents, the fourth day for sickness, even for life, if necessary. And you collect cash not just for yourself but for every Covered Member of your family.

2 How can I collect extra cash—if I'm 65 or over?

If you are 65 or over, we pay you $200.00-a-month extra cash for the first 3 months and $400.00 monthly while continuously hospitalized afterwards, in addition to Medicare benefits. This is extra. You collect for each illness or injury—each time you go to the hospital.

3 When do I collect up to $2,000.00 extra cash for accidents?

We pay you $1,000.00 extra cash for complete accidental loss of one hand or one foot or sight of one eye, and $2,000.00 extra cash for loss of both hands or both feet or sight of both eyes—even if it happens as long as 90 days after the accident. This is all extra money. You collect it on top of any other benefits we pay you. Not just for yourself but for every Covered Member of your family!

4 What if I am hospitalized by the same illness—again?

Don't worry. You still collect $400.00 a month and if you've already resumed full normal activities for just 90 days — we call it a "new confinement". Which means you can collect all over again, even for life, if necessary.

5 If I already have some health insurance—will you pay me anyway?

Of course! Never mind what you collect from Blue Cross, Blue Shield, or Workmen's Compensation, or any insurance you may have with other companies. (Even for the same illness!) We still pay you $400.00-a-month extra cash income. So if other insurance has taken care of some—or even all—of your medical bills . . . you still have that extra cash income from National Home.

6 Why do I need this Plan in addition to other hospital and health insurance?

While hospital costs have more than doubled in recent years, few people have doubled their insurance. If your other hospitalization policies are more than two years old, you have already lost ⅓ of the benefits DUE TO SKYROCKETING MEDICAL COSTS!

7 Do you pay me cash when my children go to the hospital?

Yes! When you have Coverage for Children you receive $240.00-a-month for each dependent child between the ages of 1 month through 18 years. Coverage for accidents begins on the first day — sickness on the fourth day.

8 Will future children be protected, too?

They surely will! And at no extra cost. When you have Coverage for Children (with or without Maternity Benefits), newborn children are automatically covered as soon as they are one month old.

9 Will you pay me $400.00-a-month cash—even for maternity care?

Yes, even when pregnancy requires hospitalization. Many health plans DON'T cover maternity expense. But under this Plan with Coverage for Children and Maternity Benefits, you collect $400.00-a-month for each pregnancy, childbirth or miscarriage that results in a hospital stay. (Both parents must be enrolled in this Plan for the entire pregnancy.)

10 Does this Plan pay for a Registered Nurse at home?

Yes, in addition to the $400.00-a-month cash we send you for your hospital stay, we pay you an extra $400.00 a month if the doctor has you employ a full-time Registered Nurse to take care of you at home.

How comforting it is to know that —after your stay in the hospital, if you've been there five days or more—you can return home to recuperate and yet not be a burden to your loved ones. Yes, if your doctor has you employ a full-time Registered Nurse within 5 days after you come home, we'll pay you $400.00 a month. And your benefits continue for the same number of days (for which benefits were payable) you were hospitalized —up to 12 full months.

11 Are there times I might collect as much as $1,600.00 A MONTH?

Yes, there are! Remember, we pay cash not just for you but for every Covered Member of your family. So if you or your spouse are hospitalized more than once . . . or even both of you more than once . . . or if a child gets sick or has an accident — you could end up collecting $10,000.00 or more! And that's not the whole story. This National Health Plan gives policyowners an EXTRAORDINARY DOUBLE-CASH BENEFIT. If you and your covered spouse are in an accident and both of you have to go to the hospital at the same time, National Home pays double cash amounts. You collect not $400.00 but $800.00 a month. Your spouse collects not $400.00 but $800.00 a month. That's $1,600.00 a month (when under age 65). Yes, $1,600.00 you can count on month after month—for as long as both of you remain in the hospital . . . even for life, if necessary.

12 Can I spend my cash benefits any way I please?

Certainly! You can even put them in the bank to replace savings spent while you were laid up in the hospital without income. It's your money — and all the cash comes direct to you, not to the doctor or hospital. (Unless, of course, you ask us to.)

No lengthy, complicated applications or embarrassing personal "investigations"! The short Enrollment Form on this page tells us all we need to know. Notice it doesn't ask for a medical examination. 21 Does this Plan pay in any hospital?

You are covered for care in the hospital of your choice except, of course, a U.S. Government hospital or a nursing or convalescent facility.

22 When do I start collecting $400.00-a-month tax-free cash!

You start collecting $400.00 a month TAX-FREE cash for accidents from the very first day in the hospital and for sickness, from the fourth day in the hospital.

23 Will my protection be cancelled for any reason?

No—positively not! Only you can cancel! This National Health Plan is GUARANTEED RENEWABLE FOR LIFE! That means regardless of how much or how often you collect . . . or how old you become . . . we can never cancel your valuable protection.

55-74	only $3.95
75-79	only $4.45
80-84	only $4.95
85 and over	only $5.95

Only $1.45 more per month covers all your dependent, unmarried children . . . from the age of 1 month through 18 years. And then, if you wish, just add 95¢ monthly to that, and you're completely covered for Maternity Benefits, too! Newborn children are covered automatically at the age of one month—at no additional cost!
